GOMEZ ARMY CUT TO PIECES

U. S. Wins Back $430,000,000 in Oil Lands

COURT CANCELS
SINCLAIR LEASE ON TEAPOT DOME

Announces Fall as Conspirator.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—More than $430,000,000 in oil is restored to the government as result of the Supreme court's decision canceling ex-Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall's leases of naval reserves to Harry F. Sinclair and Edward L. Dooley, on the grounds of illegality.

Sinclair's famous Teapot Dome lease, held by today's verdict, brings back to the government Wyoming oil lands estimated to be worth $100,000,000, plus $100,000 in cash now in the hands of the court's receivers: $2,000,000 worth of oil taken out by Sinclair before it was started and for which he must make restitution, and more than $10,000,000 worth of oil tanks, pipelines and other improvements constructed by Sinclair, but for which the court denies him equity because of the lease form.

Values Lease at $300,000,000.

Supreme court last March, summarily pronouncing the Doheny lease as illegal and fraudulent, restored even valuable oil lands to the navy.

After just completed by experts estimate that the Elk Hills' lands contain 17,000,000 barrels of oil, or nearly three times the amount previously estimated. No value is placed at fully $100,000. The government also recovered $4,000,000 for oil drilled out by Doheny and for value of tanks, etc.

Supreme Court of Appeals.

The Supreme court decision today in the Sinclair case sustains the ruling of the Circuit Court of Appeals which reversed a Wyoming federal District court in challenging the validity of the lease.

The unanimous decision of the court upholds Fall as a "faithful public officer." It marks a final victory for the government in its three year fight to regain the immensely valuable oil lands.

Fall and Dooley, who it was charged was the secretary of the interior $100,000 in cash for the Elk Hills lease, was acquitted last December in the Supreme court on charges of attempting to defraud the government.

Judge Next Monday.

The former secretary and Sinclair chose a fury in a local court mainly on conspiracy charges. The government alleges that the oil man Fall $250,000 in Liberty bonds to buy the Teapot Dome lease. Sinclair was convicted a few months ago of contempt of the senate in refusing to answer questions touching on his part in the Teapot Dome deal. Sinclair was given a fine of $500 and served in jail.

This opinion handed down today was and read by Mr. Justice Butcher that the Teapot Dome and Sinclair's Mammoth Oil company contrary to the oil conservation of the government. Fall's contention that development of the resources was necessary to prevent drain and was denounced as a representation in bad faith.

Teapot Lease Negotiations.

The opinion traced the steps taken by Fall to secure control over the naval reserves and his negotiations with Sinclair and the latter's counsel, J. W. McCall, as a result of which Sinclair secured the Teapot Dome lease, and Dooley the Elk Hills lease.

The opinion pictured the then secretaries of the navy, Edwin T. Denby, and the latter's counsel, J. W. McCall, as a result of which Sinclair and Dooley submitted to dominate the situation by Fall and agreed to the proposed exchange of oil for fuel oil and the use of the Teapot Dome area for the construction of storage depots for the oil when it should have been deposited in the federal treasury.

Denby's Fall's Actions.

In review of the formation of Continental Trading company, an equally "fake" Canadian corporation and the yet unexplained payment of $200,000 in Liberty bonds from corporation funds to Fall, the court was unusually severe in its denunciation of the former cabinet official.

Goodrich's Son Loses His Leg in Auto Crash

Fire Commissioner Albert Goodrich left Chicago last night for New London, Conn., where his son, Albert Jr., 20 years old, was reported in a critical condition following a traffic accident that necessitated amputation of his left leg.

Young Goodrich, a freshman at Brown university, was riding with a classmate on a motorcycle, returning to the campus at Providence, R. I., from a football game. Near New London the students' vehicle crashed head on into an automobile driven by a cadet of the United States Coast Guard academy.

Five Deaths in Day.

A small girl, a young woman, a policeman, and two adults were the day's motor victims in Cook county.

The five deaths raised the toll for the county since Jan. 1 to 724.

Helen Trobaczky, 8 years old, 2125 North Natchez avenue, playing tag in the street near her home, was struck and fatally injured by an automobile driven by Victor Coppermett, 2125 West Narragansett avenue.

Anna Conti, 19 years old, 2128 Lexington street, was killed by an automobile as she alighted from a Harrison street car at Hoyne avenue. The motorist sped away after the accident.

Edward Riley, 36 years old, 5054 Edgewood avenue, died in the Jackson Park hospital from injuries suffered on Oct. 2 when the automobile he was driving collided with a car driven by Oscar Flood, 11425 South Park avenue, at South Park avenue and 57th street. Flood was again taken into custody.

Injuries Fatal to Policeman.

Policeman William Schwartz, 50 years old, of Desplaines, died from injuries received when struck by an automobile as he was directing traffic last February.

Injuries received Oct. 2 proved fatal to Michael Popp, 83 years old, 4026 North Francisco avenue. He was struck at Irving Park boulevard and Troy street by a car driven by Charles E. Knapp, 7839 Langley avenue.

Bernice Seehausen, 8 years old, 59 West 34th street, Steger, Ill., was hit by an automobile as she was crossing the Dixie highway near her home in Will county. Chief of Police Michael Kloss of Steger, rushed her to the St. James hospital where attempts to save her life proved futile. Police held the driver, Walter Bundt of Waukegan, Ill.

Nab Politician for Holdup of a Roadhouse

Vincent Zwiefka of 3004 Logan boulvard, former Democratic alderman from the Sixteenth ward and one candidate for sanitary district trustee, was arrested late last night and charged with the holdup of a roadhouse while returning from a hunting trip. William Pomoshaki, 1525 Haddon avenue, was also arrested.

It was just another quiet afternoon in the roadhouse of John Sullivan at 7110 Higgins road when an expensive machine rolled up and three men garbed in hunting clothes got out. Each carried a shotgun and had a game bag strapped over his shoulder. William Snyder, the bartender, was alone in the place.

"I'm a hunting fool," one of the men informed Snyder, "and I'm on the hunt for Sullivan. He owes me some money and I'm here to collect it."

Fires Gun; Barkeep Goes.

The speaker lifted his shotgun and aimed it steadily at a picture on the wall. He fired. The picture didn't even move, but Snyder did. He was out the door and down the road in an instant. All three hunters fired at him. Snyder said later. But he kept ived here. These include 5,000 troops withdrawn from the Yaqui Indian country because of the unconditional surrender of the Yaqui leader, Matua. Part of these troops, acclimated to the coast land and used to fighting in the rough country, have been sent forward to Jalapa, to aid in the chase of Gen. Gómez.

18 More Mexicans Executed.

Nogales, Ariz., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Mexico's newest revolution entered its second week today, paced step by step by the rattle of government firing squads moving down its leaders.

Gen. Paulina Fontes, once director of the Mexican National Railways under President Carranza, and fifteen of his friends last night stood with their backs to a wall near Jalapa, state of Veracruz, and died for their opposition to the régime of President Calles and his program of another presidential term for Alvaro Obregón.

Further official telegrams to the Herald tonight chronicled the execution of Gen. Porfirio Gonzales, shot yesterday at Monterrey; Gen. Carlos Villanueva, ex-governor of the state of Chiapas, shot today in Mexico City, and ex-Senator Enrique B. Mantal.

How many have taken their last look at sunlight over the shining gun barrels of government firing squads in the last seven days is not definitely known, but the list of known executions shows sixteen generals and 68 others as victims, an average of more than eleven per day for the week.

Kin of Gomez Killed.

Mediano Tellechea, half brother of Gen. Arnulfo Gomez, who made his escape following his arrest at Navojoa, Sonora, last week, and with 25 followers headed south into the state of Sinaloa, was reported to have been killed by federal troops.

The pursuing troops overtook Tellechea and his followers near Rosario, Sinaloa, this morning. Most of Tellechea's followers fell on the field of battle with their leader.

American Free From Mexico.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service] Laredo, Tex., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Mexican rebels who have been active within eighteen miles of Nuevo Laredo burned two railroad bridges this morning. Train service between Laredo, Mexico City and Monterrey is paralyzed. The Mexican garrison at Nuevo Laredo has been ordered to remain in its quarters.

All incoming passenger trains from interior parts of Mexico to border points are loaded with Americans who are leaving the country in fear that the revolutionary movement may endanger their departure later on. Many of the refugees are accompanied by their families; others sent their wives and children on ahead. Refugees from Monterrey, Tampico, Mexico City and other points assert the present disturbance is generally regarded as the most serious that had confronted the government since the overthrow of Carranza!

Mexicans Kidnap Yankee Mining Engineer, Report

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Carlos Thomas, an American mining engineer, is reported to have been kidnapped at Rosa Morada, in the state of Nayarit, near the Esperanza mine. The American embassy has asked the consul at Mazatlan to investigate, but has received no report from him.

LESS GUNPLAY, FEWER DRINKS, DRY AGENTS TOLD

Bran Puts Damper on Cabaret Raids.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10.—[Special]—Less gunplay and liquor drinking by prohibition agents is demanded by the prohibition bureau in a new manual of instructions for dry agents sent today by Prohibition Commissioner Doran.

Agents with a flair for the spectacular are warned against displaying their revolvers when raiding night clubs and cabarets. The regulations, however, still allow agents to carry them and to use them when they believe it necessary for self-defense.

"There is no need for dry agents to use their guns when making rounds," Mr. Doran said in explaining the regulations. "Our feeling is that an agent never should shoot unless his life or the life of another agent is actually menaced."

The Use of Guns in Mountains.
Agents are still allowed the use of firearms against machine guns in mountainous districts.

Mr. Doran's manual admonishes dry agents against unnecessary drinking and staining evidence. Drinking, he says, should only be done in line of duty. It was revealed that in some areas administrators have arranged that only certain dry agents are allowed to drink liquor. Those agents armed with pocket sounds are allowed to drink to obtain evidence; others must be teetotalers.

WETRIDE WARNS WETS

The Anti-Saloon league will campaign vigorously to defeat any candidate for the presidency who is wet, or as unscrupulously moist, it was stated yesterday by F. Scott McBride, general superintendent of the league. Mr. McBride came here to address the Methodist ministers, and stopped at the Hotel Marshall.

He asserted that a political party cannot nominate a wet candidate.

Al Smith of New York, and then separate a dry plank in its platform, Mr. McBride said the combination would never do.

"Gov. Al Smith or Nicholas Murray Leinenweber on a dry enforcement platform would be a paradox," Mr. McBride ventured.

It is the greatest single force for opposition to legislation and no force can be greater than that of the President's supporters.

NEGRO SHOOTS 12 FROM BARRICADE IN DIXIE HOME

Battles Police 2 Hours;
Is Finally Slain.

HURRIES HOME AMNESIA VICTIM RETURNS AFTER THIRD WANDERING

Birmingham, Ala., Oct. 10.—(UPI)—Barricaded in his home near the downtown section here, Charles Pinkard, a crazed Negro, wounded twelve officers and onlookers, one officer perhaps fatally, late today before a policeman in plain clothes climbed to an adjoining roof and, opening fire at close range, fatally wounded him.

Pinkard wounded Deputy Sheriff Sam Williams when the officer went to his home to investigate an alleged attack by Plain Clothes Officer John Sandefur and Kirkhoff.

The Negro suddenly became insane, it was said, when Kirkhoff went to inspect a soft drink stand he operated.

Kirkhoff was injured when he attempted to quiet Pinkard.

DIES IN FLANK ATTACK.

Standing off all attempts to capture him for two hours, Pinkard, already weak from tear gas attacks and wounds, made his last stand when he rushed to a window to check the flank attack by Plain Clothes Officer John Sandefur from an adjoining roof. Several shots were exchanged and when Sandefur called down, "I got him, man."

BULGAR BANDITS BATTLE TROOPS ON GREEK BORDER

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

ATHENS, Oct. 10.—A clash occurred at midnight on the Greco-Serb frontier near Saloniaka, between a detachment of Greek troops and a band of Bulgarian communists (irregulars). The government also issued an order to the entire country prohibiting disorders and demonstrations against Serbs.

M. Nechitch, the Serbian minister, called on Minister of Foreign Affairs Bourou today, demanding some idea regarding what answer Bulgaria intended to make to the Jugo-Slavian note. The cabinet met immediately and announced a meeting of the sovereign assembly Saturday to legalize the state of siege, when King Boris will be present to sign the decree.

But Pinkard was on the watch and, when several burning torches came within range, poured a volley down on them. Officers said the tear gas appeared to have little effect on him.

Police had difficulty in removing the body from the house through a crowd of several thousand which swarmed the street and into the yard.

only to depart again, it was learned yesterday.

This time, however, he has gone to the farm of a relative living near Dalton, Minn., where he plans to rest from the strain of awakening to his real identity. Mr. Hamlin disappeared from his home at St. Paul in July, 1925, upon his third mental lapses. No word was ever given to him until last week when he "woke up" as a traveling salesman in New Orleans.

ACT TO CURB GARAGE DIN IN FLAT BUILDINGS

Gold Coast Protests May Result in Action.

Residents in quiet districts who object to the din of racing motors, hammering by mechanics, and other noises in big apartment buildings garages may have recourse soon in a corporation counsel's opinion putting an end to the nuisance.

Acting on complaint from the Gold Coast district, Ald. Dorsey R. Crowe [45d] said yesterday he is going to take the matter up with Corporation Counsel Samuel A. Ettelson.

Although the neighborhood is zoned for apartments, with private garages only, the complainants declared that such garages are as objectionable as public shops, automobiles entering and leaving at all hours, repair work going on, and, in some cases, gas and oil being pumped as at filling stations. In several of the basement garages, a hundred or more cars are cared for, it was said.

MAY HAVE COMMUNITY GARAGE.

Inquiry at the zoning board of appeals disclosed that a "community garage" may be maintained in an apartment house providing that it occupies no more than 15 per cent of the area of the lot and contains space for no more than 4 cars per family living in the building.

Interpreting and zoning ordinances, however, Deputy Building Commissioner Robert Knight pointed out that it allows no public garage privileges.

"It is unlawful to sublease any part of such a garage to outsiders or to maintain it for hire," he said. "No mechanical work can be carried on except that which a motorist might do in his own garage. The law also strictly forbids the sale of fuel or the conducting of any business whatever."

INVESTIGATE ONE GARAGE.

One of the garages complained about to Ald. Crowe is located in the old Victor Lawson property on Lake Shore drive. Mr. Knight found that no permit had been issued for a public garage at that address and said he would send out an investigator to see if it is properly conducted.

Other complaints came from East Oak street, but because this thoroughfare from Lake Shore drive west is in a commercial district, public garages are permissible if permits are issued.

Ald. Crowe said he hoped the company counsel would make a thorough study of the zoning law as it pertains to garages, thereby making it possible for the city council to revise them if necessary. The rapid growth of big apartment districts, he said, has probably made the problem acute in neighborhoods other than that which he represents.

KILLED SELF BY TAKING GAS.
William Holiday, colored, of 419 North Avers avenue, committed suicide by gas yesterday.

COUPLE AND CAFE MANAGER HELD IN TRIPLE SHOOTING

J. J. Walron, 6040 Winthrop avenue, and his wife, Fay, yesterday were charged with disorderly conduct and malicious mischief for their part in the alteration early yesterday in which two men and a woman were shot in the Oriental Gardens, a cafe at 1565 Howard avenue. D. H. Tow, the manager, who wounded the three, is still being held. George DeVos, 903 Leland avenue, the most seriously wounded, was reported recovering at the Rogers Park hospital. The quarrel started with a dispute over a $1.00 check.

ENDS LIFE WITH SHOTGUN.

3 MARRIED MEN DROWN AS THEIR FAMILIES WATCH
Marquette, Mich., Oct. 10.—The body of Alfred Westerlund, one of three Negauen married young men drowned Sunday in Lake Superior, was found today by coast guardmen. The bodies of the other two, Leonard J. Villberg and William Holm, were recovered Sunday.

The three men, with their families, were spending the day at a camp owned by John Key of Marquette, and the men, despite a high sea, decided to go fishing. They had gone only a short distance from the shore when the boat was hit broadside by a breaker and capsized.

The boat was only 200 feet from shore and in four feet of water when it turned over, but the men, because of heavy clothing and the sea, were unable to save themselves. Nine children were left unharmed by the tragedy which the families of the three men witnessed.

Mother Sees Fire in Which Her Child Burns to Death

Ottawa, Ill., Oct. 10.—[Special.] Looking out of the window of a neighbor's home, where she had gone to make a morning call, Mrs. Frank Thrush today saw her bungalow, in which she had left her 8 months old daughter sleeping in flames. Neighbors attempted to reach the baby's side, but it was impossible before she was burned to death. The mother lapsed into a state of coma.

None who had the privilege of attending one of Grandmother Mickelberry's famous "sausage breakfasts" ever forgot it.

Even great holiday banquets were entrusted to old Mammy Jinny. But for these sunrise feasts, Grandmother Mickelberry always prepared the golden nuggets of sausage with her own matchless hands.

She had a way of blending bits of daintiest pork with a secret Southern seasoning that roused even the most blasé of appetites to prodigious energy.

And how the assembled guests ate. They said that Grandmother Mickelberry's little farm sausage not only whetted the appetite to keenest edge, but also inspired digestion.

Mickelberry's old farm sausage is made today just as Grandmother Mickelberry made it.

A treasured heirloom, her famous recipe has never left the Mickelberry family. And none has ever successfully imitated it.

Ltd., was organized in Toronto by Henry Smith Oster, a Canadian lawyer. Interested in it were Sinclair, R. W. Stewart of Chicago, chairman of the board of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana; H. M. Blackmer, chairman of the board of the Midwest Refining company, a Standard Oil subsidiary, and James E. O'Neill, president of the Prairie Oil and Gas company.

The Continental company contracted with A. E. Humphreys, a Texas oil producer, to purchase $3,333,333 barrels of crude oil. It immediately executed another contract to sell the oil to the Sinclair Oil Purchasing company at the Sinclair refinery at a price at least 25 cents a barrel in advance of the purchase price. Some months after, the Continental company assigned its contract with Humphreys to the Sinclair Crude Oil and the Prairie companies and was dissolved.

Find Bonds in Fall's Possession.

Prior to the dissolution, however, Oster withdrew from the New York agency of the Dominion Bank of Canada $300,000 of Liberty bonds deposited to the Continental company credit. Subsequently, $230,500 of the bonds, identified by their serial registry numbers, were traced into Fall's possession.

Blackmer and O'Neill fled to France when the oil scandals broke and defied all efforts of the government to compel them to return to testify and their appearance in the forthcoming trial of Sinclair in the criminal phase of the case is still problematical. Caler stood on his rights as a Canadian citizen and could not be compelled to testify, and Sinclair and Fall refused to take the stand.

"The creation of the Continental company," declared the court in today's opinion, "the purchase and resale contracts enabling it to make more than $3,000,000 without capital, risk or effort, the assignment of the contract to the resale purchaser, for a small fraction of its probable value, the failure to cancel the disposition of its assets make it plain that the company was created for some illegitimate purpose."

"Faithless Public Officer."

"And the clandestine and unexplained acquisition of those bonds by Fall confirms the belief, generated by other circumstances in the case, that he was a faithless public officer."

"There is nothing in the record that tends to mitigate the sinister significance attaching to that enrichment."

The opinion traced another payment of $25,000 in Liberty bonds by Fall to Sinclair after the former had resigned his secretaryship. Sinclair, planning a trip to Russia, arranged through his attorney, Zevely, to have Fall meet him there and forwarded to Zevely, acting for Sinclair, $10,000 to defray the latter's expenses. Fall met him there and forwarded to Sinclair $10,000 for his own expenses. Sinclair and the making of the lease and agreement that Fall was not possible for him loyally or faithfully to serve the interests of the United States or impartially to consider the applications of others for leases in the reserve, and that the lease and agreement were made fraudulently by means of collusion and conspiracy between them."

Reviews Secret Conference.

The opinion reviewed the secret conference between Sinclair, Zevely, and Fall at the latter's New Mexico home in December, 1921, when, it is charged, the conference was held. Sinclair and Fall ordered an investigation into the status of pending claims to land in the Teapot Dome reserve. At his suggestion Sinclair secured quit claim deeds to all the lands in the reserve from the Pioneer Oil and Refining company and the Société Belgo-American des Petroles du Wyoming, whose claims had been denied by the interior department sometime before.

"The record shows," it is asserted in the opinion, "that after he knew that the Sinclair-Mathot company had obtained these deeds, Fall told some who sought to lease the reserve that he would require the lessee to satisfy or clear up outstanding claims."

"In March, after much time had been spent in preparing the lease, Fall told a representative of a company seeking a lease that he was not ready at that time to consider leasing the reserve and that, if he should so decide, he would wait until the opinion of one or more of another company, who had agreed about April 10 to submit an offer for a lease. Fall indicated that he would entertain a bid and said that he would be glad to see representatives of the company at Three Rivers. The lease had been signed by Fall April 7."

In conclusion, the court passed on the contentions of the various Sinclair subsidiary companies involved in the case, that is, that the lease was canceled they should be reimbursed for their expenditures or allowed to remove the improvements they furnished from the

In this view we take of him, he was no occasion to consider and we do not determine whether Fall was bribed in respect of the lease or agreement."

"It requires no discussion to make it plain that the facts and circumstances above referred to require a finding that, pending the making of the lease and agreement, Fall and Sinclair, contrary to the government's policy for the conservation of oil reserves for the navy and in disregard of law, conspired to procure for the Mammoth company all the products of the reserve on the basis of exchange of royalty oil for commercial well fuel oil, and for this that Fall and Sinclair and the making of the lease and agreement that it was not possible for him loyally or faithfully to serve the interests of the United States or impartially to consider the applications of others for leases in the reserve, and that the lease and agreement were made fraudulently by means of collusion and conspiracy between them."

RUSSELL SCOTT'S BODY IS TAKEN BACK TO CANADA

His father and his widow last night took the body of Russell Scott back to Windsor, Ont., where the slayer who ended his life Saturday night in the county jail once entered upon an ambitious engineering venture.

A coroner's jury yesterday brought in a verdict that Scott committed suicide while insane. Dr. James Whitney Hall and Dr. Harold S. Hubert, alienists, testified that the slayer who had escaped execution through habeas corpus for three years was addicted to paranoid delusions of persecution. He had homicidal and suicidal tendencies, the alienists added. Dr. Constantine Theodore, jail physician, declared that Scott often refused to eat because he believed the jail food was poisoned.

Alienists who had bid for Scott's brain for examination were balked, since the body had been embalmed before the inquest.

Socialists Win Big Victory in Two German Elections

BERLIN, Oct. 10.—(AP)—The Socialists have scored notable victories in two local elections. In Hamburg the Socialists gained ten seats and the Communists three at the expense of the Democrats. Nationalists and the Volkspartei. The Socialists and communists combined now have an absolute majority in the house of burghers. In Koenigsberg the Socialists nearly doubled their previous votes, while the right group lost heavily.

FRENCH AIRMEN NEAR FIRST STOP ON ATLANTIC HOP

Sighted Over African City
1,200 Miles from Paris.

PARTS, Oct. 10.—(AP)—Paris had a bon voyage this morning to another pair of aviators who hope to fly across the Atlantic this time to Buenos Aires, Argentina, as their goal.

Diedonne Costes, pilot, and Naval Lieut. Joseph Le Bris, navigator and wireless operator, took off from Le Bourget field in the biplane Nungesser-Coll at 9:43 a. m. They passed over the airfield at Casablanca, French Morocco, about 1,200 miles from Paris, at 9:48 tonight.

They hope to have breakfast at St. Louis on the Senegal coast of Africa, tomorrow morning, and then cross the South Atlantic in one full swoop to Pernambuco, Brazil.

Woman Ready for Hop.

OM Orchard, Me., Oct. 10.—(AP)—Mrs. Frances Wilson Grayson, attempting a "safe and sane" trans-Atlantic flight with Copenhagen as her objective, arrived here at 5:16 o'clock p. m. today in her amphibian monoplane Dawn from Roosevelt Field, N. Y. The time for the 335 mile flight was three hours.

The plane made a perfect landing on Grand beach and taxied over to the hangar of Capt. Harry Jones, Old Orchard aviator, the starting point of the ill-fated Old Glory, lost in the Atlantic while attempting a flight to Rome.

Mrs. Grayson, her pilot, Wilmer Stultz, and the four others who made the trip from New York, said conditions had been excellent, with a favoring wind and splendid visibility. The clear moonlight, they said, would have made a night landing here perfectly safe.

Immediately after the plane had been groomed for the night the party went to the Hotel Brunswick where they had reservations. Mrs. Grayson said that the weather prospects make it unlikely that the start for Europe would be made for several days.

appreciate statement from you for London Daily Express saying whether in your opinion this is true, and what you think of bishop's assertion."

"Knows of Propaganda."

It was signed by Warren Mason, the New York correspondent of the London Daily Express. Mayor Thompson's wire to him was as follows:

"In answer to your wire I beg leave to state that I know nothing of an effort to make American school children hate England, but on the contrary do know of the pro-British propaganda throughout the nation to make the American school children hate the American patriots who gave this country its freedom."

Urge "Meddling" Be Ended.

Mayor Thompson sent a message to London yesterday, explaining several things for the benefit of King George. His message was in response to this telegram:

"Church of England bishop, addressing American Legionnaires, London yesterday, said American school children were being taught to hate England. He urged legionnaires to oppose this kind of teaching. Will greatly

BISHOP IS WRONG.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
LONDON, Oct. 10.—The sermon of the Bishop of London to the Legionnaires in which he said that the children of the United States are taught to hate England, is antiquated, so R. H. Simpson, director of the American University union, told British newspapermen today.

"That was true a generation ago, but the tendency is toward the other way now," he said, adding, "Indeed, the tendency has gone in the other direction so far that Mayor Thompson of Chicago had to make a political issue of it. The bishop must refer to the backward states where they have peculiar views about evolution and religion."

The English papers comment ironically, "They love us overmuch."

KING APOLOGIZES FOR FOG; LEGION FINDS HE'S HUMAN

British Royal Pair Meet Big Party of Yanks.

BY DAVID DARAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 10.—[Special.]—Two financial firms in the Wall street district were robbed of $63,000 in bonds this afternoon by men representing themselves as messengers from other firms. In one case the fake messenger had a list of the bonds he wanted. In the other he merely gave the name of a firm and took what was handed over.

Headed by Retiring Commander Edward P. Savage, the Americans climbed out of their old fashioned dragon and entered the palace by the inner quadrangle. They passed through the green reception room to the throne room, where Queen Mary and King George awaited them with a smile but with no shining crown jewels or other paraphernalia. King George let the lord mayor of London do the pantomime stuff later.

"Just Fine, Simple Persons."

The Legionnaires filed past the British rulers, and every one shook hands with them. It is against the laws of the realm for any one to mention a word which King George said while inside the palace. However, the Americans expressed their own views.

"Why, the king and queen are democratic as can be—just fine, and simple as people in a fine and simple house," declared one Yankee.

Gen. Guy Wilson added: "The prince of Wales is such a nice boy, he is bound to have nice parents like us."

"Queen Mary is grand," the American women declared, "so human."

BOGUS MESSENGERS GET $63,000 BONDS IN WALL STREET OFFICES

New York, Oct. 10.—[Special.]—Two men. They lunched with him in the picturesquie Gothic dining room of Guild hall, centuries old and with stained glass windows and redolent with colorful part. The lord mayor told them that Gen. Grant, Theodore Roosevelt, Woodrow Wilson, and Gen. Pershing all had been received there.

The lord mayor clasped hands all around, took the blind Frank Schobel by the arm and led him into the hall. He mentioned Mr. Schobel's heroism especially in his speech.

Ambassadors of Good Will

The lord mayor toasted the Legionnaires, welcoming them to London and hoping they would promote peace. Mr. Savage replied:

"This is a pilgrimage of good will and the greatest crusade held since the middle ages. When we go back we will do our utmost to cement better relations between the two countries. We are ambassadors in the sense that we hope to bring about a better understanding of the English speaking people, whose ideals, customs and laws we share."

Joseph Trust and Louis Neistadt, delivery clerks for Ernst & Co., handed over $20,000 in United States Steel bonds, and $7,000 in L. R. Bonds to a man who represented himself to be a messenger from Holliday & Co.

A little later Joseph Touché, loan clerk of the First National corporation, delivered bonds worth $26,000 to a man who asked for bonds that were to be sent to West & Co. In this instance the messenger was asked what bonds he wanted. He read a list corresponding to that in the First National corporation package.

King Talks to Blind Yank.

The king won the hearts of all of them when he singled out for special attention Frank Schobel, who was blinded just a few days before the armistice. Both the king and queen shook hands and talked with Mr. Schobel for several minutes. He stood beside the throne while they listened to the story of how he lost his eyes.

The Irish guards' band began playing in the courtyard as the Legionnaires said good-bye. The guard was being changed and the big soldiers, like scarlet statues, gave the palace the romantic setting which the Americans imagined it should have, due to their movie education.

Lunch with Lord Mayor.

From Buckingham palace the Legionnaires went to see the lord mayor, who rules the historic city of London.

King Talks About Weather.

LONDON, Oct. 10.—(AP)—King George, like most Britons, has a weakness for talking about the weather. It is in the blood. The members of the American Legion good will party now know that the king is just like other Englishmen.

In receiving them this morning the first thing the king did was to talk about the weather. In fact, the king apologized to Ambassador Houghton, who was the first of the delegation to greet him. King George said: "Typical for us to had today, but hope it has not inconvenienced you."

Ambassador Houghton then pre-

King Talks About Weather.

LONDON, Oct. 10.—(AP)—King George, like most Britons, has a weakness for talking about the weather. It is in the blood. The members of the American Legion good will party now know that the king is just like other Englishmen.

In receiving them this morning the first thing the king did was to talk about the weather. In fact, the king apologized to Ambassador Houghton, who was the first of the delegation to greet him. King George said: "Typical for us to had today, but hope it has not inconvenienced you."

Ambassador Houghton then prepared to leave.

ALD. GROSSMAN CHARGES OFFER OF $5,000 BRIBE

Talks Against Patent Garment for Women.

Calling himself "a city official, but not a public prosecutor," Ald. Leonard J. Grossman [16th] said last night he would not take before the state's attorney his charge that he was offered a bribe to help pass an ordinance requiring women shoppers to wear a patent undergarment while shopping.

Ald. Grossman told the city council's health committee yesterday morning a promoter for the dress shield company had agreed to give him $5,000 worth of stock and big fees as an attorney if he would "go along." Other aldermen, he said, he understood were offered a similar sum.

Wards Ordinance Beaten.

"If anybody wants to start criminal action, I'll tell and we'll blow the lid off," Grossman asserted. "But all I care about now is to see the ordinance killed."

The committee referred the ordinance to Health Commissioner Herman N. Bressen for a report. Dr. Bressen had been called to make the test, although he previously had told the committee he did not think the ordinance necessary as a health measure.

The shield, required by the ordinance, is a tissue paper garment covering the shoulders and upper part of the body. Several delegations of women's club members, at committee hearings, argued that it would prevent the transmission of germs in a dress tried on by many customers. Store owners opposed the ordinance because it would force them to buy from a particular company. It was sponsored by Ald. A. J. Prigiano [20th].

Grossman Springs Surprise.

Chairman T. F. Moran [16th] was on the verge of calling for a vote when Ald. Grossman gained the floor.

"I was approached by the man who holds the patent on this device just outside the door," he declared. "He offered me $5,000 in stock to help him and then just kept silent."

"Later he came to my office with a roll of bills in his pocket and said he would put up cash to employ me as his attorney. I told him to keep his money and, furthermore, that I opposed his ordinance and would fight it to finish. I said it was nothing but a raw shakedown of the merchants. I understand he also approached other members of this committee."

Ald. John Toman said no one had approached him. Other aldermen told Ald. Grossman to talk to the state's attorney.

Farrell, president of the United States Steel corporation; El. J. During the three days there will be laid for a $500,000 war memorial auditorium and a new city hall.

FIRE SWEEPS SITE OF ROME'S OLD CIRCUS MAXIMUS

ROME, Oct. 10.——The spot where the ancient Circus Maximus once stood was swept by a terrific fire today. A number of storerooms, garages, and similar commercial buildings occupy the ancient site. The property loss was large, but no casualties were reported.

Chariot racing passed from the Circus Maximus in 549 A. D., during the reign of King Totila, at a time when the city fell to a great extent in ruins.

With a few trifling exceptions, the walls of the circus have disappeared, although its form is traceable from a higher point of ground.

The Circus Maximus was situated in the valley between the Palatine and Aventine hills and the first building on the spot was assigned to Tarquin the younger (514-438 B. C.). It was not until the time of the empire, however, that the circus became a conspicuous public resort. The wooden part of the circus was burned in the great fire of Nero and again under Domitian. This later was rebuilt in stone and the number of states included to accommodate 350,000 persons.

THE CITY WILL FOOT THE SUBWAY BILL.

While in Paris on their trip of subway inspection, the Faherty party spent some little time and thought on the matter of financing. Paris subways, they learned, pay the city a fair return on the investment and a very small return on the private capital invested. In the end, Mr. Faherty decided that Chicago had better build its subways the way it does its parks, taking its returns in other than monetary value.

That, probably, is the only way in which Chicago ever will have a subway. The city will have to build the subways and its citizens will have to pay for them and accept the greater convenience and enhanced property values as interest. If found legally possible, the traction fund will be used for subway construction; there will be special assessments of benefited property owners, and the remainder of the cost must be borne by bond issues, paid for eventually by taxation. The companies will be required to pay a profit only on their own investment of rolling stock, trackage, repairs, etc. Subways are a luxury and you cannot build them, American style, make them pay interest on their cost, and still have low fares.

There is a social righteousness behind a municipally financed subway. The city provides streets for citizens with automobiles, pays for them by assessment, bond issues, and taxation—together with some special taxation for repair. It ought, by the same reasoning, to provide subways for persons who use the street cars and the elevated lines.

REVISING THE CALENDAR.

As shocking to custom and tradition as simplified spelling or Esperanto, but as sensible as the decimal monetary system, is the proposal to revise the calendar into something resembling an orderly, balanced instrument. Like the proposed adoption of the equally sensible metric system, calendar reform faces the task of overcoming the tremendous inertia of habit, sentiment, and fixed business methods. In the case of the calendar still another factor, that of religious beliefs and observances, is added.

Despite the many obstacles in the way of a calendar revision, the movement—thanks largely to the efforts of such men as Moses B. Cotsworth and George Eastman—has won considerable success. It has progressed so far as to have been made the subject of a study and a favorable report by a league of nations committee. Throughout the business world, among educators and scientists, and among many churchmen, it has found zealous supporters.

Out of all the various plans to revise the calendar that devised by Mr. Cotsworth and known as the International Fixed calendar has been most favorably received. According to this scheme the year would be divided into thirteen months, the extra month being inserted between June and July. Each month would be a standard unit of twenty-eight days, the first of the month being always Sunday. The extra 365th day would be known as Year day and would be inserted between Dec. 25 and Jan. 1; in leap years the 366th day would be inserted between June 23 and July 1.

The disadvantages of the present Gregorian calendar are, of course, obvious, especially in the business world, where individual thirteen month calendars are already in some use for the sake of ease in comparative costs and accounting. The present calendar is not fixed, changing every year. The months, the quarters, and the halves are unequal, nor is the month a multiple of the week. The number of working days varies in each month. Under the proposed International Fixed calendar there would be these advantages, as listed by Mr. Eastman:

Months would be equal. The day of the week would indicate the monthly date and vice versa. Clock and watch dials could record day and date. The four weeks would quarter each month, harmonizing weekly and monthly receipts and disbursements. Pay days would recur on the same monthly date. Periods of earning and spending would all be equal or exact multiples. Holidays and permanent monthly dates would always occur on the same day. Fractions of weeks at month ends would cease. All months would be comparable without adjustments. The reckoning of lapses of time would be simplified. All holidays could be placed on Monday. There would be a faster turnover of money with thirteen months instead of twelve.

In addition, the Cotsworth plan proposes a fixed Easter, which would be of benefit to schools and to business. The heads of most of the Christian churches, it is said, have signified approval of a fixed Easter provided universal benefit by the change could be shown.

The fact that thirteen is not divisible by two, three, four, and six is, of course, a drawback, but sponsors of the plan point out that quarterly and biannual transactions could be carried out on the basis of thirteen and twenty-six weeks.

Barring the inevitable temporary confusion which would result from a change, there is no sound reason against so evidently sensible a reform. The day and the year are fixed, but the month and the week are artificial divisions of time created for the sake of convenience. There is no reason why they should not be changed if the change means still greater convenience.

It would seem that here indeed is a field in which an organization such as the League of Nations can be of truly international service.

A REPORT FILED AWAY.

Ald. Horan has called public attention to the fact that no action has been taken by the city government to carry out the recommendations made last January for the improvement of traffic conditions in Chicago. The recommendations cost the Association of Commerce $50,000. They were made by a recognized expert in the field of traffic engineering after careful studies lasting over many months.

It is a matter for regret that the Association of Commerce has not found it possible to get action on the traffic report. It is strange, though often true, that a public-spirited organization such as the association will spend much time and money on the study of a problem only to let the matter die with the submission of a report. Now that Ald. Horan has revived the subject, we hope the association will bring pressure upon the city government to consider it. A flat rejection of every recommendation would at least demonstrate some regard for the association and its experts. The present neglect is not precisely flattering to the association and its managers.

HOW STABLE IS FRANCE?

The object of the Soviet minister for foreign affairs in resisting M. Briand's expressed wish to have the Soviet government represented at Paris by another than M. Rakovsky seems plain enough, as we have said. In normal relations an intimation such as the French foreign minister has given would be acted upon promptly, for it is hardly advantageous for a government to have an unpopular emissary to a government with which it wishes to be on easy terms. Even if M. Rakovsky were the prince of diplomats, Moscow could not wish him in Paris if he were—as he is—obnoxious to the French government or to a considerable part of the French people.

How is it then that M. Chicherin insists upon retaining him? It is true M. Chicherin seems to have cultivated a habit of impertinence toward other governments and doubtless that has merit from the peculiar viewpoint of Bolshevik domestic politics. If he were a proletarian suddenly elevated to his high office we might account for his attitude as a combination of ignorance and partisanship. But M. Chicherin is a man of the world and a diplomat experienced in the conventions of the classical school. He knows precisely what he is about.

And what is that? He is, of course, trying to make mischief with the present French government, which is a coalition of the moderates and an enemy of the radicals. But would M. Chicherin gamble unless he were strongly of the opinion that he is backing the right horse? We are rather confident he would not and we therefore assume that he considers the Poincaré-Briand ministry doomed to a very short life. How reliable his information may be only time will tell, but the Rakovsky incident raises the question whether France is not going to indulge in a fit of radicalism which may be more serious than is good for her or Europe generally. Some recent observers feel that a turn little short of revolution is imminent. Social discontent is said to be acute and widespread and not offset by an intelligent conservatism. The wealth holding classes are narrowly selfish and there is no such movement for the wider distribution of prosperity and the progressive betterment of the condition of the average man as has marked American development, especially in recent decades.

A revolution in France would be a misfortune to the French and to Europe because it is likely, if not certain, that it would put France into the hands of doctrinaire and mere destructionists, not men with constructive powers. European radicalism is fundamentally unsound and the revolutionaries leaders in France would make a mess of it if given half a chance.

NO.

We reprint in the Voice of the People a communication from the secretary of the south park commissioners asking us to write "Soldier field" and not "Soldiers' field." The answer, Mr. Secretary, is no.

"Soldier field" is hard to say and "Soldiers' field" is easy to say. We think we have some influence in this community, but our influence could be multiplied by a hundred and still we could not induce people to say "Soldier field," particularly as there is no good reason for doing so. "Soldier" is both noun and verb. We do not believe that the commissioners are using it as verb. The field is not so called because it is a place to soldier, but rather because it is a memorial to soldiers. It is not a memorial to one soldier, but to all soldiers.

Our heart bleeds for the commissioners in their great grief. We suggest that they get together with the Field museum and have a good try.

After that, as they seem to attach great importance to the matter, we suggest that they change the "correct" spelling to conform to good sense, popular usage, and the peculiarities of the tongue accustomed to speaking English; but whatever they do, it is "Soldiers' field" in this newspaper and will remain so. THE TRIBUNE expects every profredder to do his duty.

Editorial of the DayTEACHER'S KNEES.

[The Milwaukee Journal.]

Teachers of a Detroit suburb win their battle against a school board that wanted to put them into long socks. The board decided that teachers shouldn't have knees. Two years ago a Chicago superintendent tried to put his thousands of teachers in uniform and failed. Not long ago a New York town wanted to impose a curfew on teachers. But the curfew didn't ring.

These efforts to impose unusual conditions on school teachers make one weary; and it is a sign of health in our teaching forces that they are resisted.

But the problem presented by these spasmodic and trivial efforts at puritanism is bigger than the mere regulation of dresses in the classroom. It is a part of that state of mind we have got into which wants to dictate the other person's way of living. Sure, put 'em in uniforms or socks or anything your fancy sees upon. Tell them when they shall go to bed and when they shall get up and what they shall eat for breakfast. If they don't obey, rail again them and say that moral life in America is disappearing, that the schools are undermined and that the country is going to the dogs. It is the greatest American sport to draw pictures of pessimism with the left hand and with the right cut the cloth that goes into the other fellow's coat. If some of these "advocates" would propose the revival of the ducking stool, we'd almost be for it—for them.

In addition, the Cotsworth plan proposes a fixed Easter, which would be of benefit to schools and to business. The heads of most of the Christian churches, it is said, have signified approval of a fixed Easter provided universal benefit by the change could be shown.

The fact that thirteen is not divisible by two, three, four, and six is, of course, a drawback, but sponsors of the plan point out that quarterly and biannual transactions could be carried out on the basis of thirteen and twenty-six weeks.

VITAMINS NOT SO ELUSIVE.

IT.

The vitamins stand the heating and treating to which foods are subjected in cooking and canning very well indeed. It is not necessary to eat raw foods to get a proper ration of vitamins. The people who live out of doors need not suffer from vitamin starvation. There is no evidence that the eating of mining camp waste away because of food shortages and sailors who live mostly on dried stews have not so suffered since the use of fruit juices or preserves retain their vitamins and all their other wholesome qualities.

The old, imperfect methods of keeping foods resulted in considerable loss of vitamins. The never methods cause their retention. The invention of cold storage was a great boon to health. The development of the art of canning was even a greater one. The heating to which foods are subjected in canning destroys less vitamins than aging, shrinking, early decay, or the action of molds or bacteria. In other words, if food cannot be consumed in its pristine freshness, the best way to keep the vitamins about all these, and others of like kind, there is a something of flavor and wholesomeness that cannot be caught and held by any process we have. But beyond these narrow limits, properly preserved foods retain their vitamins and all their other wholesome qualities.

EVEN SO SIMPLE A THING AS A HANDKERCHIEF

A handkerchief accidentally dropped at the feet of her lover sent Anne Boleyn to the scaffold.

A Czarina of Russia paid $2500 for a handkerchief which had been sixty years in the making.

In the days of chivalry a knight carried his lady's handkerchief at the point of his lance, whence comes the guidon.

The English name was originally "coverchief," a veil for the head. English gentlemen adopted handkerchiefs along with snuff, for concealment of a sneeze was a fine art.

So "there's magic in the web of it," as Othello said—a romance behind even so simple a thing as a handkerchief.

At Field's you may see handkerchiefs that have fluttered down from all over the world, in thousands of styles. We send several buyers abroad every year just for handkerchiefs. From France they bring a myriad of exquisite novelties. From Ireland, where grows the flax with flower as blue as Irish skies and Irish eyes, they take the output of an entire factory, made to our designs.

In Switzerland, a large handkerchief industry is under our own direction.

We send Irish linen around the world—to Porto Rico and China, for instance—to be made into handkerchiefs. Italy, Madeira, Switzerland and Japan, also fashion handkerchiefs for us—each in its own way. In Belgian and French cottages, and in our own factory at Zion, lacemakers ply their ancient art for the gratification of our customers.

When you remember that the section on the first floor where you will find the handkerchiefs [from $65 for Belgian rose point lace down to 25 cents for worthy linen] is only one of the 200 sections of the store which are being replenished continually in much the same way, you know something of the secret of completeness that through seventy-five years has been building Field's.

BAR MISSISSIPPI WHITE SCHOOLS TO U. S. CHINESE

Court Holds They Come Under "Color" Clause.

Jackson, Miss., Oct. 10.—(AP)—Native born Chinese were barred from white schools in Mississippi by a ruling handed down by the Mississippi Supreme court today.

A court ruling in the case of W. F. Bond, state superintendent of education, against Joe Tif Fung, an adult, and Joe Tin Lun, a minor, said that friction, disorder, and general unshapeliness would be occasioned if efforts were made to associate the Caucasian race with the colored race in Mississippi schools.

The court defined as colored any race other than Caucasian, and held that it would be necessary for Joe Tin Lun to enroll in a Negro school. In making the ruling the court also reversed the finding of a Georgia county Circuit court which would have required the school to permit the Chinese pupil to enroll.

Attorneys for Lun contend that the refusal to permit the boy to enter the school was in violation of the articles of the Burlingame treaty of 1888 between the United States and China, in which it was agreed that Chinese children of an educable age might attend any of the public schools in the United States that were in any way supported by the United States government.

The Supreme court held that exclusion of Chinese from the white schools was not in violation of the treaty in that the Negro schools were as much American schools as white schools.

The county superintendent testified at the trial that there were Negro schools accessible in the district where the youth would be subjected to the same rules and regulations as in the white schools and where he would be taught the same subjects.

Lose Fight for $9,000,000 War Claim in Supreme Court

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10.—(AP)—The Skinner and Eddy corporation lost in the Supreme court today in its fight to compel Controller General McCullough to pass upon its claim, growing out of wartime contracts with the Emergency Fleet corporation, amounting to about $9,000,000.

Action by the controller general was sought as a basis for a counter claim by the corporation in a government suit against it in the federal court for suit against it in the federal court for the seizure of Washington, based on a contract by the corporation for purchase of the government's shipbuilding plant at Seattle.

William Burns, convicted of violating the California criminal syndicalism law in the Yosemite national park by working as an organizer of the Industrial Workers of the World, was refused a hearing. At its last term the court sustained his conviction.

Sidney G. Borg and others, acting under an agreement of certain bondholders of the Chicago, Peoria, and St. Louis railway, were refused permission by the controller general to review a suit against the Illinois Terminal company for $1,000,000 damages for alleged breach of contracts to purchase their bondholdings.

Sioux Indians Lose Appeal.

The Supreme court refused to pass upon the contention of the Sisseton and Wahpeton bands of Sioux Indians that the government over them more than $7,000,000. Congress referred these claims to the Court of Claims, which decided against the Indians.

The court advanced for hearing on Oct. 24 the case of the Commercial Credit company of Baltimore to test out the right of the government to refuse to prosecute drivers of automobiles on the charge of unlawful transportation of liquor when detected in that offense, but to confine the charge to unlawful possession. The case is regarded as of vital importance to companies financing the purchase of automobiles on the deferred payment plan.

In a case from Seattle, the lower courts held that the government could confine its prosecution to illegal possession and by that means forfeit the case under section 3480 of the revised statutes without giving the finance companies an opportunity to recover possession.

No Ruling in Ship Seizure Case.

The validity of the seized and confiscation of liquor laden vessels in the territorial waters of the United States without evidence that contact had been established with the shore, as presented in the case of the British schooner J. Duffy, taken on Long Island sound in 1924 by the coast guard, will not be passed upon by the Supreme court, it was announced.

Three men were the other officials at the poll and they were to have been co-defendants. Two of them, suspected of having worked under assumed names, still are at large. They were carried on the records as Sam Metty, 1400 South Halsted street, and George Miller, 700 Liberty road. The third, Pat Dolan, 727 West 14th street, now is in the Kankakee hospital for the insane, the court was told.

A recount, introduced as the trial was continued until today, showed Metty had 100 votes on the card, and having actually received less votes than the total for which he was credited as a candidate for sanitary trustee.

Circuit Judge Otto Kerner yesterday dismissed an application for a writ of habeas corpus brought in behalf of John Sherry, convicted election official.

ARMORED TRAINS AND CANNON ROUT FOES OF PEKING

Chang's Sudden Attack Brings Victory.

BY CHARLES DAILEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
[Copyright, 1927, by The Chicago Tribune.]
PAOTINGFU, China, Oct. 10.—Marshall Chang Tsao, armed by his son, celebrated the sixteenth anniversary of the revolution by a magnificent counter attack which pushed back the Shansi troops agains Peking from 111 miles southwest. Over a distance of 141 miles from the capital.

Reliable information indicates that in the northern sector Chang's troops recovered Suantufu, 96 miles southwest of Peking. Two regiments of Shansi troops were taken. They surrendered and were disarmed.

Chang Uses Armored Trains.

The fighting on the southern front has been heavy. Two trains of armored cars were sent to Peking tonight, while Paddington hospital, including the American Congregationalist hospital, is still.

The advance of the Shansi troops seized Wangtu, a distance of 111 miles from Peking, and twenty miles from Paddington. The retreat of the Shansi suddenly turned about and advanced with armored trains and mounted artillery. They recovered the important city of Tingchow, 128 miles from Peking, and their line tonight thirteen miles south of that point.

The fighting was punctuated with heavy shrapnel bursts, accompanied by cavalry flanking movements.

Military intelligence reports indicate the Shansi troops, who fought with no courage, have pressed strongly down along the Puto Ho river, 167 miles southwest of Peking and five miles from the junction of the railway leading to the Shansi capital. Chang hopes to capture this rail junction, thus opening the way into Honan province for an attack upon the Christian general, Fang Yu-hsiang, who also is being attacked from the east by Shansi troops. Foreign telegrams indicate Gen. Feng was denied support from Hankow.

British sailors have rescued the mission hospital at Swatow from communist troops.

Nationalists Celebrate Anniversary.

SHANGHAI, Oct. 10.—(UPI)—The Nanking nationalists government today observed extensively the sixteenth anniversary of the revolution which brought about the overthrow of the Manchu dynasty and the funding of the Chinese Republic. The foreign office in Shanghai was the scene of a brilliant reception, which Chinese and foreign military and civil dignitaries attended.

On Oct. 10, 1911, in consequence of a revolutionary plot in Hankow, a mutiny broke out in Wuchang among the troops stationed there. The mutiny was the signal for the formal beginning of the revolution which ended with the abdication of the emperor, P'u-yi, on Feb. 12, 1912.

BRIXTON GOES TO HANKOW

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
[Copyright, 1927, by The Chicago Tribune.]
SHANGHAI, Oct. 10.—Rear Admiral Mark L. Bristol, commander of the United States Asiatic Fleet, who returned to Shanghai last week from an inspection trip in the north of China, left today for Hankow for the purpose of inspecting the situation in the Yangtze valley.

Admiral Bristol, who has established close communications with Chinese officials of all factions, is uncommunicative regarding his intentions. So far he has delivered one public speech before the Chinese National Assembly at Peking, in which he did not refer to the Chinese situation, but devoted his attention to a discussion of the situation in Turkey. He praised Turkish nationalism, which he declared had improved conditions for Americans and other foreign interests.

Foreign interests here, who are opposing treaty revision, interpret the American naval chief's remarks regarding Turkey as indicative that he adheres to an early revision of the Chinese treaties, but the admiral is keeping his own counsel.

The judge became angered when his name was called to the fact that about 45 out of 100 citizens had been excused for one reason another.

Because of the great backlog of pending cases, court had to be adjourned early and the session today also was shortened for the lack of time to examine witnesses.

"In the theatre world, Luckies have become almost universal. Stage folks are very critical—voices must be kept in condition, throat irritation is a handicap. In "George White's Scandals," most actors and actresses whose voices are important smoke Luckies both for voice protection and finer flavor. For these reasons I prefer them, too."

There is no longer any argument among the members of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

KITCHENS NOW COOKING SALONS, DUE TO SCIENCE

Experts Show Changes at Convention.

Reversal of order in decorative importance of rooms in the modern household appears a certainty if one may believe the evidence of vision directed at the exhibition of gas appliances on view at the Stevens hotel in connection with the ninth annual convention of the American gas convention which opened yesterday.

The kitchen, which achieved a certain popularity as a salon with the advent of prohibition, may now contend as an attractive center, with the drawing rooms and halls which house the combback windows, the ancient hassocks, and salutes of "period" furniture.

The Changing Kitchen.

The modern kitchen, as demonstrated by the gas appliance wizards is an apartment of lacquered chests, mahogany finished tables, and walnut finished heating devices. The hearth, stove, cupboards, and rows of pots and pans of other days are "out."

Among the latest offerings is a combined mechanical refrigerating and cooking unit, enameled and polished to a degree that invites comparison with a baby grand piano. Pool proofing of all gas devices shown by means of automatic control, appears to have reached a fine art.

Registration of incoming visitors at convention headquarters yesterday indicated that an attendance of more than 5,000 would be achieved. Business sessions of the association begin today and general sessions will continue at the Eighth street theater through Thursday.

Reducing Billing Troubles.

According to John L. Conover, an auditor of the Newark, N. J., gas utility, one of the existing drawbacks in the administration of gas distribution in this country, is the lack of sure fire billing machines which will imprint all necessary figures on each bill and make no errors.

"As matters stand our company makes one error in ten million bills mailed annually," he said. "The billing of 850,000 customers by the Chicago company requires an average of twelve operations per meter twelve times a year, or 100,000,000 operations. The company's record is even better than seven one-thousandths of one per cent."

"Give us machines that will print in four or five places at one time and our present billing cost will be cut in half. A fortune awaits the inventor of such a machine."

Call Smoke Fog Dangerous.

A prolonged fog, due to smoke clouds overhanging a big city will result especially in two or three days to more people than will succumb to gas asphyxiation in a year, according to Floyd W. Parsons of New York.

"Americans are fast becoming a race of sun chasers," he said, "due to knowledge of injuries caused by smoke. The price paid for air pollution can be measured in terms of high death rates from tuberculosis, respiratory disease and sickness, not to mention physical damage to property."

"We have now exact means for counting the particles on polluted air. In Long Island city, a manufacturing community, it was found that 2,036 bits of solid matter were contained in a cubic centimeter of air. Determinations made at the federal building, Chicago, indicated that the atmosphere was burdened with 7,180 bits to the cubic centimeter, and in the vicinity of the University of Chicago the count showed 4,800 particles in each unit analyzed."

The following executives associated with the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company will address the convention:

A. L. Tossell, W. A. Sauer, J. M.

Roberts, G. E. McLean, S. A. Hill, Mrs.

Anna J. Peterson, J. F. Deacon, J. F.

Weber, W. W. Chapman, H. H. Barnes and M. I. Miller. Samuel Insull is scheduled to make "Some Comments on the Gas Industry" at tomorrow's session.

HOLDS TWO OF "48" GANG.

The gang of 48, including George Loring,

Anthony Barritt, 1126 Vernon Park place, and Anthony Orton, 1420 West Full street, members of the "48" gang, yesterday were arrested and held on $50,000 bail by Judge William R. Holander on charges of burglary.

To Avoid Engine Repair Bills

Wise motorists check their ignition when the engine falls short of the fine performance that it once had.

Many times expensive repair bills are incurred and it is afterwards found that all that was needed was a set of spark plugs. This is the reason that spark plugs in time deteriorate and become less effective.

This is the simplest, safest and least costly thing to do before authorizing extensive repairs or adjustments.

When you buy spark plugs, be sure to insist on AC—the spark plug on which Lindbergh, Chamberlin, Byrd and other great flyers staked their lives—then you will be sure of perfect spark plug performance.

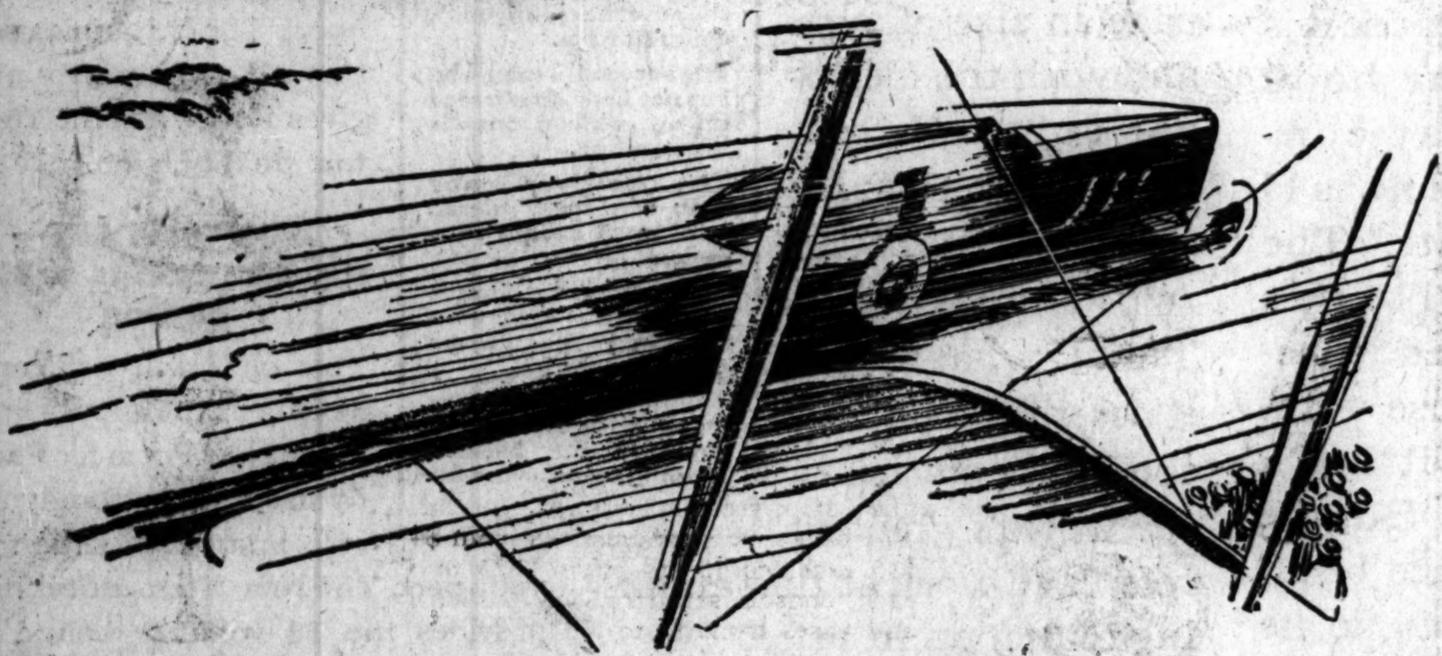

Your dealer has the right type and size for your engine.

A GEAR LUBRICANT that is all LUBRICANT

How it adds to Power and Increases Gas mileage—in any weather

TODAY you can obtain a gear and chassis lubricant that contains no asphaltum tar to retard speed and waste power. This grease is based on a new scientific principle. Its soundness is proved by exacting tests on the road and in the laboratory.

It is called Graigrene. Winter and summer, Graigrene lets your gears operate perfectly.

Ends Winter Driving Troubles

All the way from 25° below zero to 210° above it maintains a viscosity from five to ten times that of ordinary "gear compounds." That means in cold weather you can always shift easily; transmission and differential are not wasting power.

It means there can be no "channeled" grease that leaves gears unlubricated. And in hot weather it is insurance that the lubricant won't break down, or liquefy and run out.

Every Batch Tested for 700 Miles

Graigrene has been tested in actual use over thousands of miles, in all kinds of weather. Every batch is tested chemically. Samples from each batch are actually tried in a transmission for hundreds of miles.

Only after it has stood all these tests is Graigrene ready for distribution. Every time you ask for it you get a tested and proved lubricant—one that is bound to result in added power, greater gas mileage and easier car operation. Ask your service station for Graigrene by name. Look for the gray-green color that distinguishes the genuine.

To Garage and Filling Station Managers

If you do not yet carry Graigrene, write or phone for details of the Graigrene Plan, which offers you valuable help and costly greasing equipment. A remarkable opportunity. Phone Yards 7196, or mail to address below.

This Amazing New Hair Wash and Scalp Tonic

Reveals undreamed of Beauty in your hair

RAVOL

Registered/Trade Mark. U. S. Patent Office.

(TRIPLE DUTY)

SOAPLESS SHAMPOO

No alcohol

As far advanced over ordinary shampoos as a vacuum cleaner is over a broom

Your hair has a beauty that has never come to light—a beauty that will dazzle and delight you, once you let it show itself. It is the natural, healthy beauty of the hair—luxuriant softness, glorious sheen and lustre—beauty that has remained a slave to old-fashioned ideas of soap shampooing. RAVOL, a scientific plant product, reveals this hidden beauty because it brings to the hair and scalp a degree of cleanliness and health never obtained from ordinary shampoos.

RAVOL unites immediately with the oil and greases that accumulate on the scalp. It takes up every particle of dirt and grime, particularly those little flakes of alkali curd left in the tiny saw-tooth surfaces of the hair by old-fashioned shampoos and soaps. Note how it foams when using—a sign of vigorous cleansing force!

*Hydrolysis
The term chemists apply to the action of water upon soap whereby an alkali is formed. It is this liberated alkali which causes skin irritation.

There is no alcohol or acid in RAVOL. No alkali to leave the itch and irritation of hydrolysis.* Your only sensation after using is a cool, tingling feeling of exhilaration that tells you your scalp is happy at last. At the first touch of water—hot or cold, hard or soft—RAVOL vanishes like magic, taking with it every last bit of impurity that dulls the true beauty of your hair.

RAVOL has become the stand-by of hundreds of Chicago's best beauty shops and tonsorial parlors. They have had singular success with it in treating difficult cases of hair and scalp disorders.†

Now this marvelous, triple-duty product (cleanser, anti-septic, and tonic) is available to the public for the first time at an insignificant price.

A dozen bottle with complete directions for using. 65c

† Hair and Scalp Institute, Inc., 20 W. Jackson Blvd., America's largest light therapy institute for the prevention and elimination of baldness and scalp disorders, recommends RAVOL because it is a superior preparation that positively cleans the hair and scalp safer, quicker and more effectively than anything else.

200,000 Letters from Chicago Tribune Readers to the INVESTORS' GUIDE

THE INVESTORS' GUIDE of The Chicago Tribune has just received its 200,000th letter. Every letter has asked information about securities or has thanked The Tribune for information received through this daily department of investment information. Most of the replies have necessarily been by mail. Daily, however, those of general interest to investors are published and hundreds of thousands of readers have profited by them.

Frauds are Exposed

Information on securities, warnings against fraud, education regarding good investments and reputable firms, are part of the service Tribune readers have received.

The Investors' Guide has fearlessly and vigorously exposed fraudulent financial services and publications—swindlers posing as independent advisers, whose only object is to get rid of wild cat stock.

Interest in Investments

Confidence and responsiveness have helped to keep The Tribune way ahead of all other Chicago newspapers in the volume of financial advertising. The Tribune carried as much financial lineage as all other Chicago newspapers combined during the first six months of 1927.

In advertising of bonds, The Tribune carried almost three times as much lineage as all other Chicago newspapers combined.

Many investment houses are not taking full advantage of this force in selling securities. Three-quarters of a million persons every day buy The Tribune. Mail to the Investors' Guide is one indication of the interest in investments which The Tribune has built up among the readers, and of their confidence in the Investors' Guide.

Bankers Read It

Tribune men have information about The Chicago Territory and The Tribune's relationship to it. You may want to know how The Tribune reaches financially-able people in the five states of The Chicago Territory; how the investors watch it and rely upon it for stock reports, financial news and information; how The Chicago Territory compares with other markets in wealth and buying power.

The tendency to concentrate Chicago newspaper advertising appropriations in The Tribune is logical and justifiable. With three-quarters of a million daily circulation, and 1,135,575 on Sunday, you have a vast, inexhaustible market for the sale of securities. Dividing your appropriation weakens your drive for business in Zone 7.

The Tribune has made many careful studies of circulation and its market. A Tribune man stands ready to discuss with you the advantages of The Chicago Territory.

COSGRAVE RULES NEW IRISH DAIL FOR VOTE TODAY

Well Balanced Parliament for Erin Now.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]
(Copyright: 1927 By The Chicago Tribune.)
DUBLIN, Oct. 10.—Unless the unexpected happens, William T. Cosgrave will be reelected tomorrow as president of the executive council of the Irish Free State, and will be in power another five years, if he cares to continue. The first meeting of the new Dail Eireann takes place in the afternoon, and the first business will be the election of the president.

It is not known at present whether Eamonn de Valera, leader of the erstwhile Republican Separatist party known as the Flanna Fail, will challenge Mr. Cosgrave by offering himself as president, but if he does, it seems only a question of how large the majority against him will be. If the parties line up, as in the famous division when John Jinks of Sligo saved the government by voting his side, Mr. Cosgrave will have a majority of six, while Mr. Cosgrave himself has been elected for two constituencies, he can only vote once; therefore the actual majority is five.

Chance of Variation.

It is likely, however, that the majorities will be larger than the Labor party, which numbers fifteen, may abstain from voting altogether, or vote against Mr. de Valera and President Cosgrave. The Laborites voted with the Flanna Fail leader in the Jinks division, and are counted with him in arriving at the Cosgrave majority of five. Tom Johnson, who, although defeated at the polls, still is recognized as the leader of the Labor party, said today that if the party took his advice it would take the latter course, voting against both great party leaders.

Mr. Johnson evidently is bitterly disappointed over the result of his tremendous alliance with Mr. de Valera. He said that the policy of his party in the future would be to vote on each question on its merits.

Better Balance in Dail.

The coming session of the dail is interesting and important because it is the first in which there is a real opposition in which all sections of the country are represented. In all the dails since the treaty the republicans, who held about one-third of the seats, followed a policy of abstinence, refusing to take oath or seats. Now they have done both.

Conditions in the Irish parliament are much healthier, as there is the prospect of an alternative government to the party now in power and also the possibility of serious constructive opposition. Thus Mr. de Valera realizes this is shown by the announcement today that he has been appointed chairman of the party committees, whose duty it will be to study the work of the various government departments and constantly to criticize. He thus is building up an alternative cabinet able to take charge of the departments, should his party come into power at a future date.

It also was announced today that the followers, in taking the oath of loyalty to King George, regarded it as an oath to the Irish nation alone.

CASE AND BUSCH DESCRIBE ILLS OF LOCAL POLITICS

Men and women prominent in civic affairs held the first meeting last night of the Chicago Institute of Local Politics, and had as speakers Charles Center Case, who was appointed special state's attorney by County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki, and Francis X. Busch, former corporation counsel.

Attorney Case talked about the various election frauds and said he wouldn't have anything to brag about until at least 130 judges and clerks of election are in jail. He added that he isn't being paid and remarked that the Union League club, which he said is dedicated to the duty of purifying elections, has not helped him. J. F. Aldrich challenged that statement and Case asked to be shown one instance where the Union League club had ever done anything to bring about clean elections.

Attorney Busch spoke on the ills of a council governed city. Others who took part in the discussion were E. O. Griffenhagen, Gordon Wilson, Dr. Augustus Hatton, Mrs. B. F. Langworthy, George Sykes, Mrs. Janet Fairbank, Prof. Charles Kerwin and Harold Ickes.

Jury Convicts Policewoman of Stolen Car Sale

Miss Lottie Zebowski, 26, of 2725 Euclid avenue, suspended police woman, was found guilty by a jury last evening in Judge Worth E. Taylor's Criminal court of receiving stolen property. If her motion for a new trial is overruled on Oct. 23 she will be subject to a sentence of from one to ten years in the penitentiary.

The police woman, who has been under suspension since Aug. 25, 1926, was charged with having sold an automobile which had been stolen from Mrs. Emma McDonald, 2105 East 71st street in Washington park on Aug. 15.

Home Heating Service from 522 Branches

Holland Heating Service is the nationwide home heating service operated and directed by the Holland Furnace Company through 522 Factory Branch stores and service stations.

Each of these branches delivers the same kind of service. Holland Heating Service is uniform from coast to coast in every branch because all branch stores are manned by Holland Trained men following Holland standardized factory engineering practice.

The Holland Furnace Company itself assumes undivided responsibility for the carrying out of its plans and contracts. All Holland men understand that. There is no attempt to evade responsibility. GADDY MYSTERY SOLVED; BOY IS AT HOME AGAIN

Pancakes are a delicacy to the palate of 15 year old Teddy Frank—only when they are smothered in rich, golden honey. Teddy, who at times has cuddled for hours with members of north shore country clubs and pancakes for breakfast a week ago Sunday. But he didn't have the honey. His 11 year old brother, Emil, sent him to the table and the honey was gone.

Teddy brooded about that. He took his pancakes in silence and spread them on them and decided between them that his mother didn't love him any more.

Mystery Grows and Grows.

And that afternoon he disappeared, leaving giving the north shore links a grim mystery, which grew and grew the days passed, until there was talk of jealousies, and bitter hatreds, and threats and revenge—dire things among the caddies, and finally the word "murder" was whispered and bandied about by the boys.

Word of this reached the mothers of the boys who work on the golf and soon the mothers forbade their sons to go out any more where there was murder among caddies alike and the result was a short age of caddies on the green up northward.

Finally the county highway police started an investigation. They discovered one caddy who was said to have made threats against young

Frank, and Sunday dragged ponds and swamps in the neighborhood of the links on which the boy had carried bags.

In Walks Missing Boy.

They were still investigating today and questioning Teddy's mother, Mrs. Irene Franks, in her home at 1655 Jongui terrace, when Teddy suddenly walked into the house.

"Hello, ma," said Teddy, sheepishly.

The mother's arms were around him in an instant.

"My boy, my boy!" she cried.

"Where have you been; why did you go away?"

"A.W., ma-a-a-a-a," said Teddy. "You gave Emil honey on his pancakes and me only plum jam. So I went away...."

The detectives stepped out. The great honey and plum jam mystery was solved.

PROBE OF BOND POSTING IN U. S. COURTS ORDERED

Professionals Quizzed Before Judge Cliffe.

Federal Judge Adam C. Cliffe yesterday ordered an investigation into all bonds given as security for federal prisoners during the last five years whose cases are still pending. The order followed an all day quiz of three bondsmen, William Jeffries, colored, D. A. Roti, and Harry Turnepole, by United States District Attorney George E. Q. Johnson before Judge Cliffe.

Possibilities of contempt proceedings or grand jury indictments of professional bondsmen who had signed the same property on several bond schedules was forecast in the federal building.

Roti, under questioning by District Attorney Johnson, admitted having sworn to a schedule claiming that he had signed bonds aggregating $3,500. Records of the bond department showed that he was then liable on bonds totaling $25,000.

Charge $ Per Cont. Fees.
All three bondsmen admitted charging 5 per cent of the bond as a fee. They denied paying any premiums to persons who sought them out. At times the bondsmen admitted they collected a fee of 10 per cent of the bond.

During questioning of Jeffries, the government brought out that he had sworn to a statement that he had become security in nine instances. Records were produced showing him as bondman in more than 30 cases at the time.

Judge Cliffe requested United States Commissioners James R. Glass and Henry C. Beilier to cooperate in every respect with the investigation being made by the office of the district attorney.

Others Heard Oct. 12.
The investigation was started with the calling of Jeffries, Roti, and Turnepole to show cause why the bonds they had signed should be justified. Other signers of federal bonds are expected to be called as witnesses on Oct. 12.

Reports that government employees might be involved in the dealings of the bondsmen caused Judge Cliffe to ask the witnesses if they had turned over any part of their fees to federal building employes. They denied any such dealings.

District Attorney Johnson shortly after taking office ordered all professional bondsmen to vacate the eight floors of the federal building, where they frequented. The offices of the United States marshal, Commissioners Glass and Beilier and the district attorney are all on this floor of the federal building.

DELAYS CHICAGO RESERVE BANK'S INQUIRY ON RATE

Mellon Awaits Young's Action on Request.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service)

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10.—(Special)—Secretary of the Treasury Mellon is holding up the request of directors of the Chicago Federal Reserve bank for a new opinion by the attorney general as to the power of the federal reserve board to initiate changes in rediscount rates.

Mr. Mellon said today that he had not transmitted the request for an opinion to the attorney general because of the recent change in the governorship of the federal reserve board. Until Roy W. Swanson, the new governor, could give the matter consideration, Mr. Mellon said, he thought it desirable to hold it in abeyance.

Under the law, requests for legal opinions of this character are forwarded to the attorney general by the secretary of the treasury as ex-officio chairman of the federal reserve board.

The board, in reducing therediscount rate of the Chicago bank from 4 to 3½ per cent, acted under an opinion of the

Proud of Its Size

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is proud to be a "big business." But it is proud of its size only because it is the direct result and the tangible measure of its usefulness.

The people of the Middle West are responsible for the size of this Company. They have encouraged its growth by demanding its products in ever-increasing quantities. The size of the Company has increased in proportion to the service required of it.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has been working for years with one definite, conscious purpose—to serve to the best of its ability, the people of the Middle West.

Its singleness of purpose and its faithfulness to that purpose have been recognized and appreciated. Constantly and steadily demands for its products have multiplied.

This is the best proof of appreciation that could be had. The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) operates in a highly competitive field. People buy its products because they know they will get full value for their money. People go out of their way to find its Service Stations because they know they will receive the attention of men who not only are skilled to serve them, but who are intensely interested in serving them well.

A feeling of mutual respect has grown up between this Company and the people of the Middle West. By a dependability that never varies, by an honesty of purpose that never changes, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has proved itself worthy of trust.

By a growing demand for its service, the public has shown its appreciation. This, in turn, has created an increased sense of responsibility on the part of the Company.

It is a big job the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has to do today. It must fuel and lubricate millions of motor cars and a fast growing number of airplanes. Industries in ten great Middle Western states must be supplied with petroleum products. Wheels on the farms, in the homes and the factories require many highly specialized lubricants, which have been developed to fill the many various requirements.

Hundreds of other products must be manufactured to fill hundreds of other human needs—and to share the costs of production with the major products making low prices possible.

Manufacturing is not all of the job. This Company has built up a vast system of distribution reaching all corners of the Middle West—making its service as convenient to the farmer in a remote rural section as to the city person.

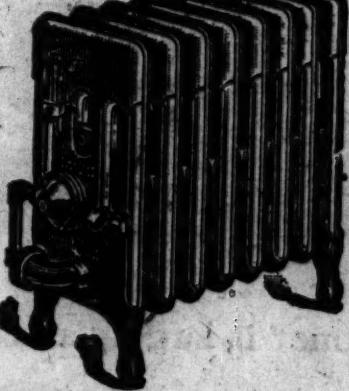

It is a big job the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has to do today—serving the 30 million people of the Middle West. Work that is worth the doing! All of the 29,000 employes of the Company feel the same way about it. Only their best will do!

ALFONSO OPENS DICTATOR'S NEW PET ASSEMBLY

Hand Picked Crowd to Give 'Liberty' to Spain.

BY HENRY WALES.

(Chicago Tribune Free Service.)

MADRID, Oct. 10.—Spain's first step toward the return of a constitutional parliamentary government took place this afternoon when King Alfonso formally opened the directorate's hand-picked national assembly.

Swarms of police and plain clothes men were kept busy beating the crowd of several hundred from the palace to the meeting in an inconspicuous black room. The representatives all were black, and the dozen women delegates present were garbed in the deepest black and veils, as though they were in mourning. In vivid contrast, the clergy stood out, the scarlet cardinals with their little red hats, and the purple draped archbishops, appearing doubly prominent against the drab background.

Two Women Represented.

Two of the women delegates appointed, the duchess of Parcent and Captain San Luis, sent their resignations just before the opening.

Every one leaped to their feet and burst into cheering as the king entered, wearing an immaculate morning coat, a smooth crease in the middle, trousers. He was carrying a crystallizing silk hat and chamois gloves in his hands, and his patent leather shoes were shining.

Foreign Minister Yanguas opened the meeting with a long speech. Then the husky voiced Gen. Primo de Rivera received a tremendous ovation with another speech.

All Brief Ceremony.

King Alfonso returned to the dis-cource, weirdly stroking his mustache, then, rising as the assembly stood, said, "I declare the national assembly opened," and left the hall.

The king posed for photographers outside and then dashed off to his car, and with the diplomatic corps, including Ambassador Ogden H. Hammond, returned to San Sebastian.

WAR HELP FOR BRITAIN SPLITS CANADIAN TORIES

[Chicago Tribune Free Service.]

WINNIPEG, Man., Oct. 10.—The national Conservative convention meeting here to select a new Tory leader and formulate new policies split today on the issue of whether Canada should send troops overseas to a British war, without previous consultation of the Canadian people by a general referendum.

Arthur Meighen, former dominion Conservative leader, and Prime Minister G. Howard Ferguson of Ontario were principals in the brief battle which rocked the powwow. Mr.

Meighen, who led the Tory party to defeat in the last two elections, reaffirmed his view that no Canadian troops should leave Canada without referendum approval of the people.

There was no vote to decide the controversy, but Mr. Ferguson was hauled down and told to go back to Ontario, while the crowd responded warmly to a call for cheers for Mr. Meighen. It was said tonight that Mr. Meighen would regain Tory leadership on the recommendation of sentiment of today's platform struggle.

BERLIN, Oct. 10.—Berlin's subway employees today decided to go out on hope that the men cutting the tunnel

Little bodies crave this delightful food building food for our boys and girls.

The reason lies not alone in butter's food calories and digestibility, but, to an even larger degree, in its great store of those powerful energy-giving substances known as vitamins.

According to nutritional authorities, such as McCollum and Simmonds, as well as extensive tests by the British Government, butter surpasses all other foods, save milk, as a growth and healthsimple, everyday foods which little bodies need.

Take butter for example. The amazing health value of this simple food is a subject of vast importance to every mother.

Fortunately, doctors are today coming to a better understanding of child growth and health. They no longer consider health a whim of chance. More often, we are told, it is a happy reward for care in the selection of those simple, everyday foods which little bodies need.

Take butter for example. The amazing health value of this simple food is a subject of vast importance to every mother.

Butter also contains, as does cod-liver oil, another vitamin which is known to play an important part in building strong bones and sturdy bodies in children.

For thirty-three years the ideal butter for children

Pure, flavorful Blue Valley Butter not only supplies in abundance the vitamins and other body-building elements children need, but in a most delightful and agreeable form.

But some mothers have not understood that there is a wide difference in butter. Butter can never be better than the care and methods that go into its making. And Blue Valley offers exceptional health qualities largely because it is made as only Blue Valley knows how.

Blue Valley learned years ago that to make a supremely fine butter required far more than a carefully selected and thoroughly pasteurized supply of fine cream. Good cream, though highly necessary, is only the beginning of good butter.

There must also be maintained the most sensitive and delicately balanced set of scientific methods, processes and formulas that have ever been known in the whole realm of modern food handling.

It was the further promotion of this scientific work that originally prompted Blue Valley to step ahead of all precedent and found the now famous Blue Valley Research Laboratories.

And when later Professor Otto F. Hunziker, a scientist of world fame in butter making, was secured as directing head, literally a new era was marked in the production of really fine butter.

* * * * *

But try Blue Valley! Learn for yourself its marvelous uniformity, its delightful aroma, its wondrous flavor—a flavor utterly impossible in butter made in ordinary ways.

Naturally, a cheap fuel is an inferior fuel. That's why it is cheap. Quick-burning, it requires a lot of stoking to keep your home at an even, healthful temperature. Cheap fuel is the most expensive in the end. You use more of it.

In the last ten years woman has progressed forty years she eats in restaurants over a month out of the year but the cook book is the second best non-fiction seller

The modern woman stays in the kitchen less than she used to. In fact, she eats at home less than eleven months out of twelve.

$24,000,000,000 a year is spent on food; and out of this sum, $4,000,000,000, or one sixth of the total, goes to the 125,000 restaurants and hotels all over the country.

These figures indicate that the modern American woman is claiming—and justly so—a good part of the year for vacations and holidays from her job. The American family has developed the pleasant habit of frequently taking a meal together in restaurant, hotel, tea room or club, thus giving the homemaker a well-deserved break in the housekeeping routine.

Yet in spite of spending less time over the kitchen range, woman is more interested in her job as family dietitian than ever before. She cooks more appetizingly and more scientifically. Her food has a more tempting eye appeal and a more beneficial effect on family health.

That she is reading about and studying her job is shown by the tremendous demand on all sources that provide helpful literature on this vital phase of home life.

Astonishing as it may seem, a certain cook book is now the second best seller in the non-fiction field*—and this, in spite of woman's greater freedom and more frequent dining out.

The government has never had such an insistent demand from women for bulletins on housekeeping

*The first is the Bible and cooking, while every woman's magazine is devoting more space than ever before to recipes, menus and authoritative articles on dietetics.

Among the women's magazines that have played a leading rôle in promoting more expert cooking, more scientific cooking and more style in cooking is McCall's. No other magazine has been more earnest in its efforts to secure for its readers the most up-to-date information on this important subject.

Through the famous McCall Laboratory Kitchen, presided over by Sarah Field Splint, and through Dr. E. V. McCollom, noted dietitian of Baltimore, McCall's offers the modern woman the very highest type of counsel in matters pertaining to foods, recipes, marketing and diet.

This department of McCall's is but one of many that make McCall's an authentic source of information for the modern woman. The McCall Company, 236-250 West 37th Street, New York City, Chicago, San Francisco, Boston, Atlanta, Toronto.

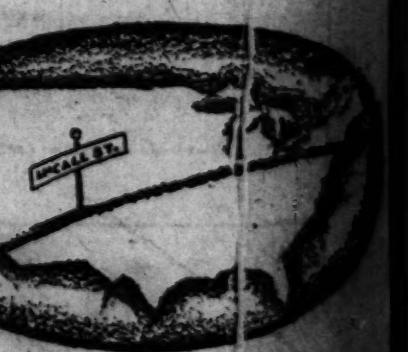

MC CALL'S MAGAZINE

The November Issue is out today

There are two sides of McCall Street—the well-lighted thoroughfare where the 2,200,000 readers of McCall Magazine live. One is the Romantic side—the other the Practical side. The former meets woman's desire to escape from herself and her surroundings, to find the Fiction side. The latter meets the practical needs of her world that she must face daily—household, home management, children, etc. This is the "other side" of McCall's.

MAJOR BATTLES
BOT SATURDAY
GRID CALENDAR

N. Dame Plays Navy;
N. U. at Ohio.

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

Struggles between undefeated conference eleven and the inter-sectional clash between Notre Dame and the Navy at Baltimore will command the interest of football fans on Saturday.

Southern California and Stanford, both unbeatens, will meet in the outstanding contest on the Pacific coast. Alabama and Georgia Tech, two of the power houses of the south, will clash at Atlanta.

Pittsburgh fans will travel to Stagg field to see Purdue, conqueror of Harvard, battle the Maroons. Chicago showed improvement last Saturday by winning from Indiana, but Purdue will be the favorite.

Fans Want to See Welch.

Chicagoans are anxious to get a glimpse of Ray Welch, Purdue's new summary, who was mainly responsible for his team's victory over Harvard. When Capt. Wilcox rejoins the squad the Boilmakers will have two ball players who should make ground against every team on the schedule.

Northwestern will journey to Columbus to meet Ohio State in what promises to be a great struggle. Although both teams disappointed their followers last Saturday they will play after football this weekend. This is an objective game for both elevens and they will fight for superiority.

In generation Phelan said: "I love those boys. Other teams may seem to have more and better material than we have, but I wouldn't trade my fighting kids for any other eleven in the conference."

Purdue did fight but it did not win the following day. It scored and threw a score into the Maroons, who were worn out. In the 60th, by the time the eleven which had won the 1924 title, in 1925 Stagg again "feared" Purdue, but the Maroons won, although the Boilmakers had the better of the play for most of the game. Last year Purdue improved its ambition of many years' standing and vanquished the Stagmen.

Now Purdue has humbled Harvard, the first team from this section ever to do so.

Gophers Invade Indiana.

Minnesota, which is rated about the strongest team in the conference, will go to Bloomington to meet Indiana. The Gophers have been stepping high, wide, and handsome and it is hard to believe that they will not continue to do so.

Another hard-fight looks at Madison, where Wisconsin and Michigan will collide. Both elevens have been pointing for this struggle since the opening of the practice season on Sept. 11.

Weary Coach Jimmy Phelan again would not trade his "fighting kids" of 1927 for any other eleven in the conference.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

PHELAN'S "KIDS."

THREE years ago the Wake attended the annual rally of Purdue alumni, always held on the eve of the Chicago game. Coach Jimmy Phelan still attends, and his handshakes with which Boilmaker partisans are familiar. Then he disseminated the rumors that he was seeking a berth elsewhere, saying: "If Purdue is satisfied to let me keep on trying I'll never quit until we have a winner. I do not promise that we will win tomorrow. I think we have a chance. But I do promise that every man on our team will be fighting every minute of our life."

In generation Phelan said: "I love those boys. Other teams may seem to have more and better material than we have, but I wouldn't trade my fighting kids for any other eleven in the conference."

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 10.—(AP)—Dr. Spears today faced the puzzling but pleasant problem of fitting a fifth man into his MINNESOTA high-gear'd back field with the addition to the squad of Art Phamer, flashy triple threat man from Spokane, Wash. Phamer cleared his eligibility just before the Gophers launched their first practice for the Big Ten opener against Indiana Saturday at Bloomington. Because of his demonstrated talents as a forward passer, kicker and runner, he has been ranked as the equal of any regular back fielder, with the possible exception of Herb Joesting.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 10.—[Special]—With every man on the squad in good condition, Wisconsin sin settled down for the invasion Saturday, after kicking off in which Redbirds got off good punts and Rose, Sykes and Crofoot booted well from placement. Coach Thistlethwaite gave out new plays to be used against the Wolverines. Backs and ends worked on defense for passes, while Ross and Mohardt tossed the ball to reserve players, trying to imitate Oosterbaan. Cuisiner, Chicago boy, replaced Kresky in the first team back field. Scrimmage is expected to-morrow.

Bloomington, Ind., Oct. 10.—[Special]—Pat Page started preparations today for Indiana's annual homecoming game, which INDIANA is expected to attract thousands of football fans to Memorial stadium Saturday. Page declared that his men should have made a better showing against the Maroons and that he expects them to be keyed up for the Minnesota contest. Varsity men who played against Chicago were not used in today's scrimmage. Hall, Harrel, Rector and others recovering from minor injuries and are expected to be ready by Saturday.

Dempsey Passes Through Denver, on Way to Coast

Denver, Colo., Oct. 10.—[U.P.]—Bearing a scar over his left eye as the only visible reminder of his most recent encounter with Gene Tunney, Jack Dempsey passed through Denver today en route to the Pacific coast. Dempsey was accompanied by his wife.

"Am I going to fight again? Certainly," said Dempsey, all in one breath. "Tunney outdid me last where honest-to-goodness fighting is concerned. I can make him run to cover."

Trudy's Trainer Denies Typist Swam Channel

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

PARIS, Oct. 10.—Mercedes Gleitz, London typist, never swam the English channel, declares James Wolff, famous trainer who supervised Gertrude Ederle's first attempt to swim the turbulent body of water.

Mr. Wolff, who now is at his home at Brighton, England, writes to friends in Paris who accompanied Miss Ederle and Mille Gide Corson on their swim. "While Trudy Ederle swam the channel a section of the English press tried its utmost to discredit her wonderful achievement, although it was done in the full of day, with dozens of press men on the lookout. Yet they accept without comment the Gleitz swim, which was done in icy waters, during a heavy fog, with no press representatives aboard—only her pilot, his wife, brother and trainer—a family affair."

NO OFFICIAL RECORD.

LONDON, Oct. 10.—There will be no official record of the cross channel swim achieved by Miss Mercedes Gleitz, London typist, on Friday. Her time of 15 hours and 15 minutes was better than Mrs. Corson's and only 41 minutes longer than Gertrude Ederle's. But there was no official sponsorship of the swim, no newspaper men or independent observer accompanied her, and she landed in a deep fog.

LATZO STOPS WARNER IN 2D ROUND OF BOUT

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 10.—[Special]—Pete Latzo of Scranton, former welterweight champion of the world, stopped Wyoming Warner of Cheyenne, Wyo. after one minute and thirty seconds of the second round here tonight. Warner was down three times in the second round before the fight was stopped. Latzo weighed 167½ and Warner 176.

Pirate Owners Continue to Deny Report of Club Sale

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 10.—(AP)—Officials of the Pittsburgh National League tonight reiterated emphatically their denial of reports that the team had been sold.

Rumors that Barney Dreyfuss, Pirate owner, had disposed of the club, circulated in Pittsburgh last week.

These reports were revived today when a New York paper published a story reporting the sale of the club for $12,000,000 to Lew Wentz, former Pittsburgher, and now an Oklahoma oil operator, and James Crawford, retired Western league magnate.

Dreyfuss was kept busy all day denying the reported sale. When he received a telegram from the New York paper, asking for details of the sale, he replied that the club had not been sold and that no offer had been made for its purchase.

NO FOUNDATION FOR REPORT.

"There is absolutely no truth in the report, and there never was the slightest foundation for it," said Dreyfuss. "The Pittsburgh club has not been sold to Mr. Wentz or any other person. Mr. Wentz has made no offer for the club since the occasion several years ago when he expressed a desire to purchase control but his advances were declined. No offer for the club has been made by any other person or persons and there are no negotiations pending or in prospect with any one."

Reports of the sale of the Pittsburgh club have been circulated in baseball circles for several years, and such instances of club names being linked with that of Fred Clarke, former Pirate manager, as the purchasers. Dreyfuss denied the reports in each instance, pointing out that the club was making money, that he was thoroughly satisfied as its owner, and that since his chief interest in life was baseball, he did not intend to sell.

Cuyler Goes Home

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 10.—(AP)—Hazel (Kiki) Cuyler, speedy Pirate outfielder, central figure in baseball's latest controversy, left Pittsburgh for Flint, Mich., his home, late today. The day failed to bring any announcements as to whether Cuyler would be traded as a result of the differences that sprang up during the season between the outfielder and Manager Donie Bush. All parties to the dispute maintained silence on the case which has puzzled Pirate fandom ever since Cuyler was benched in favor of Clyde Barnhart.

OWNERS LOSE ON SERIES

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 10.—(Special)—That the world series entailed an immediate financial loss of at least $20,000 to Barney Dreyfuss, Pirate owner, was revealed today in an incomplete checkup of the expense confidential to the staging of the games. The Yankee owners lost approximately the same amount.

A fifth game would have been necessary to have taken the ownership out of the world. The players received the bulk of the receipts of the first four games and naturally they battle hard to finish as quickly as possible.

The Pirate players each received $1,934 as his share of the series pool.

Twenty-six figured in the division of the money.

ROCKNE EXCUSES REGULARS FROM MONDAY PRACTICE

Allows More Rest After Grueling Detroit Game.

Notre Dame, Ind., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—Detroit put up such a battle Saturday that Notre Dame's training drive for next Saturday's Navy game was to begin today was postponed until tomorrow and the regulars given the afternoon off. The second team was not so fortunate, and Rockne gave it personal attention all afternoon. The second string squad has shown defense ability, but has been weak in advancing the ball.

Scouts returning from the Navy contest reported that the middies are as strong as ever. Fred Collins, Joe Prall, and John Law will be back in the lineup Saturday, and barring injuries, Notre Dame will present its full strength at Baltimore.

NAVY DRILLS HARD

Annapolis, Md., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—Annapolis' Midship football squad started hard drill today for the game with Notre Dame in Baltimore Saturday.

With the exceptions of the annual games against the military academy, no contest in which a Naval Academy team has engaged has excited such intense interest as that with Notre Dame, the first to be played between these teams.

The Navy squad put in a hard afternoon of drill. There was no scrimmaging, but the players were taken by groups by the different coaches and given detailed instructions on their work in different plays. There was also a good deal of blocking and passing. Lloyd and Bauer doing most of the former, and many combinations of pass plays being tried.

LIGHT PRACTICE AT CORNELL

Mount Vernon, Ia., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—Only a brief scrimmage was included in the opening work out of the week for the Cornell college football squad. Cornell plays Michigan State at East Lansing on Saturday. Coach Richard Barker was so well satisfied with the showing of his regulars in the game against Beloit that only light practice sessions will be held the first four days of the week.

IOWA STATE TESTS NEW PLAYERS

Ames, Ia., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—Iowa State today practiced new plays for use against the University of Illinois Saturday. Coach Workman also drilled the squad on a new offense against the six-man line Illinois has been using this year. Anxious to prevent injuries, Coach Workman has decided to hold only light scrimmage this week.

CARROLL VS. CO. FRIDAY

Waukesha, Wis., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—Carroll college gridiron were sent through a long session of calisthenics tonight. The unpracticed practice was ordered by Coach Noyce who wishes to avoid all injuries for the encounter the following week with Lombard at Galesburg, Ill. Merchants will give the Carroll team their backing in the game with Coe college by Friday by closing their stores in the afternoon. The college has set the

Songbirds Chirp Autumn Melody En Route South

BY BOB BECKER.

A concentration of migrating hawks, a flock of 500 to 800 swallows, a lone nighthawk "hunting" at sunset, goldfinches feeding on weed seeds—these are a few of the autumn bird signs which the hawks, hunters, and other outdoors men can see these fall days as they travel across the browned October landscape.

This autumnal migration of song birds, not quite as spectacular as the southward movement of waterfowl, because the latter travel in military formation, is none the less interesting, and you ought to take your binoculars or field glasses with you when you get outdoors these days.

About a week ago we ran into quite the largest flock of swallows that we ever have seen on the move. It was a warm, rainy October day, with lowering clouds dousing us with moisture every few minutes. The swallows were flying low, dipping now over the steep fields and a small lake on which our duck decoys were floating. Warm weather had induced them to take it easy on their migration. They have a long way to go before cold weather arrives, as the barn swallow winters from Mexico way down to Argentina.

We were surprised to see the lone nighthawk hunting at sunset, as these inquisitive birds checked out of our neighborhood several days ago. However, our lone nighthawk is not overjoying his annual visit in the north. This species, along with several of the thrushes, the swallows and 15 or 20 other song birds, is not due to join the army of migrants until the second week in October.

Huskies Prepare for Grinnell.

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 10.—Still smarting under the 7 to 6 defeat by Missouri, the Nebraska Cornhusker football team turned toward the preparation for Grinnell here on Saturday as they went through a light practice this afternoon. The Huskers appeared to have come through the Missouri struggle with no serious injuries.

Grinnell Scrimmages.

Grinnell, Ia., Oct. 10.—A hard scrimmage with the second string squad was given the Pioneers today in an effort to improve the Grinnell defense. McEntyre's ankle still bothered him. Ross and Lietke still were out with injured shoulders. But it is expected they will recover in time to play against the Cornhuskers at Lincoln Saturday. Gray and Newmann played in the backfield for the first time tonight. The squad leaves Thursday for the Nebraska game.

PRO BASKETBALL MOGULS APPROVE 56 GAME SCHEDULE

New York, Oct. 10.—[AP]—The transfer of two franchises in the American Professional Basketball league and a 56 game schedule for the 1927-28 season were approved today by club owners in session here with Joe F. Carr, of Columbus, Ga., president of the circuit.

The Brooklyn Celtics, 1926-27 champions, move their headquarters to Madison Square Garden, under Tex Rickard's direction for the coming season, while the Baltimore club goes to Detroit, where the Boston franchise will be played at New Olympia arena.

Johnny Beckman, the highest salaried star in professional basketball, will captain and manage the Detroit team, President Carr announced.

The league remains an eight club circuit, other franchises being located, as they were last season, in Chicago, Cleveland, Fort Wayne, Ind., Rochester, N. Y., Washington, and Philadelphia. Each club will play 28 games at home except Detroit, which is limited to 21 because of a scarcity of seats.

The season will open Nov. 19 with Chicago playing at Cleveland. On Nov. 20, Philadelphia will open at New York and Rochester at Washington, while on Nov. 21, Fort Wayne will play off the lid at Detroit.

U. S. ESTIMATES YIELD OF CORN AT 2,603,000,000 BU

Nature has done wonders for the corn farmers in the United States in last 30 days. It has brought out more crop, the size of which seemed impossible in August and early in September. The government's October report, issued late yesterday, suggests corn production of 2,603,000,000 bushels, an increase of 146,000,000 bushels in September, due to favorable weather and favorable moisture conditions.

The returns are higher than generally expected and only 12,000,000 bushels below the highest of the private estimates made by Chicago statisticians, with Nat C. Murray, the Clement-Curtis statistician, the closest.

This year's corn crop is 77,000,000 bushels less than estimated in October, but only 44,000,000 bushels below final returns in 1926. It is 164,000,000 bushels short of the five year average.

188,000,000 Bushel Gain in Month.

In the nine large corn belt states last year returns suggest a crop of 1,875,000,000 bushels, an increase of 136,000,000 bushels over last month, a loss of 14,000,000 bushels as compared with the final returns of last year. It is 127,000,000 bushels short of the five year average.

A feature of the corn crop this year is the large production in Nebraska, which increased 140,000,000 bushels, with a total of 1,000,000,000 bushels, while Kansas had 171,000,000 bushels, an increase of 78,000,000 bushels over last year. The corn crop is practically safe from damage, the report says.

Total Wheat Crop Larger.

A wheat crop of 857,000,000 bushels is indicated, or 34,000,000 bushels in excess of last year and 59,000,000 bushels above the average. With the carryover, total wheat supplies of the United States were 355,000,000 bushels, suggesting a surplus of 35,000,000 bushels.

The Canadian crop report, issued yesterday, made no estimates of production of wheat, but it did say that had been damaged by rust, frost and wet weather. Its latest private estimates suggested 180,000,000 bushels for all Canada, of which 42,000,000 bushels were in the three western provinces. Last year the latter had 282,000,000 bushels, and all Canada 406,000,000 bushels.

Estimates on oats were raised 15,000,000 bushels last month to 1,306,000,000 bushels, or only 44,000,000 bushels short of last year. Barley estimates were increased 6,000,000 bushels for the month to 350,000,000 bushels.

Spring Wheat a Surprise.

A spring wheat crop of 314,000,000 bushels was a complete surprise to the trade as there were no estimates out above 200,000,000 bushels, and the trade is general expected around 250,000,000 bushels. There was an increase of 18,000,000 bushels over last year's small production and a gain of 62,000,000 bushels above the five year average. It was the largest spring wheat crop since 1911, when a record of 356,000,000 bushels was made, and only five other years have ever been above 300,000,000 bushels. In 1911 it was 351,000,000 bushels.

In the four northwestern states the spring wheat crop is 257,000,000 bushels, an increase of 13,000,000 bushels over the September estimates. The durum wheat crop in the four states aggregates 80,000,000 bushels, a decrease of 2,000,000 bushels from September, and is almost double the previous year. Durum wheat is 177,000,000 bushels, compared with 153,000,000 bushels last month and 155,000,000 bushels last year. North Dakota has 158,000,000 bushels of all wheat, against 77,000,000 bushels last year.

$30,000,000 Prussian Loan Difficulties Are Overcome

BERLIN, Oct. 10.—(AP)—Difficulties encountered in the negotiations of the Prussian state government for a $30,000,000 loan from an American banking house have been solved. It was seemingly accomplished yesterday. The proposal has been drafted to bring the loan consonance with the Dawes plan and the treaty of Versailles and the loan is expected in New York some time this week.

Hog receipts yesterday at 27,000 were largest for Monday in a month but met brisk demand on local and shipping account at strong to 15c higher prices. Extreme top advanced 15c at $1.90, highest since last Tuesday, with general average up 5c at $1.905. The clearance was unusually early, only 5,000 remaining at the close, among the smallest for Monday this year.

Range of prices reached the narrowest point for Monday since last June, top and average standing 95c apart at 10c lower. Cattle buyers, however, scored the sharpest gains, cutters taking 30 per cent of arrivals, against 35 per cent the previous Monday. Prices a year ago yesterday were at the low point in October, 1926, advancing 50c during the week.

Last week's sharp break in all but top steers checked the marketward movement of cattle to some extent. Arrivals at 22,000 were below the average Monday run during the last few weeks, with the advance estimate of only 8,000 for today the smallest of the year for Tuesday. Movement continued slow, top notchers showing less activity, with the best available steers at 11c, 50c, averaging 12.50c. The Goats, 1,500@14.50, brought $16.50, and two yearlings averaging 945 lbs $16.50. Quality graded below initial day of last week, but the bulk of sales standing at $10.75@14.50, against $11.00@15.75 the previous Monday, when top was at $16.50. Calves tumbled 50c further. Butcher stock rules weak. Range cattle numbered 7,000, against 7,500 a week ago, and 12,000 a year ago.

Lambs Sell Lower. A run of 30,000 sheep and lambs proved excessive, causing a break of 15c both in killers. Best rangers dropped to $13.75, with hand picked natives at $13.65, equaling lowest since early last month. Top fat lambs a year ago stood at $14.40 and two years ago at $15.75. Light feeding lambs were quoted at $13.50@14.00. And second yearling sheep were scarce and steady.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 8,000 cattle, 21,000 hogs, and 26,000 sheep, against 11,232 cattle, 22,322 hogs, and 17,288 sheep the previous Tuesday, and 16,181 cattle, 21,497 hogs, and 25,585 sheep a year ago.

STEEL INDUSTRY FAILS TO SHOW AUTUMN PICKUP

The principal stock and commodity exchanges of the country will be closed tomorrow in observance of Columbus day. Chicago banks also will be closed, the day being a legal holiday in Illinois.

BY O. A. MATHER.

Unusually prolonged slackness in the steel industry this year is evidenced in the monthly report on forward business made public by the United States Steel corporation yesterday. Unfilled tonnage on Sept. 30 was 314,811 tons, a decline of 47,324 tons during the month.

September usually brings an upturn in steel production after the slack summer months. The current total of unfilled tonnage, however, is the smallest for any September in five years and is 443,396 tons below a year ago. Moreover, it is only slightly above the level of last summer. Last month's decline almost canceled the gain of 54,023 tons made in August, when an upturn was predicted.

Operations Below Avg.

Steel mill operations last month were below the August level. At the middle of September the average dropped below 65 per cent of capacity. Since then, however, operations have risen beyond 65 per cent and have not been able to keep pace. Therefore, the present outlook is considered somewhat better than a month ago.

Several of the large steel consuming industries are operating at a slower pace, such as automobile factories, railway equipment makers, and the building construction industry. There were reports yesterday that a number of motor plants are preparing to cut down production further, thus further reducing steel buying as well as automobile production. Until these industries expand production, no pickup in steel mill operations is expected.

Reasons for Prosperity Ched.

Other news yesterday was in more detail concerning The American Bankers Association. Journal cites ten reasons for continued prosperity in its current business review. They follow: Large income from crops; easy money; prospects of improved conditions for many major industries in 1928; building construction still giving a good account; farmer commodity prices; an optimistic stock market; a healthy bond market; foreign trade holding up remarkably well; government finances in better shape than in more than a decade; no evidence the election bonds will necessarily hamper business next year.

A compilation of sales of 16 large mail order and chain store concerns for the nine months of this year shows a total of $232,559,000, an increase of $75,801,638 over the same period last year.

The Portrait Invisible

BY JOSEPH GOLLOMB

... a New York gambler's house, and two crooks, Slim and British, become a suspect visitor, known as "The Goldfish." They accuse him of being a stoolie, because he is often in the courtroom of Judge Robert Craigin, who is severe with them, and dismisses them with an ultimatum they are to be always at his disposal.

The Goldfish denies the charges, turns the tables by revealing he "has the goods" on them, and dismisses them with an ultimatum they are to be always at his disposal.

In the following Monday Judge Craigin does not appear for the opening of a famous trial. His younger brother, Bruce, known as the prodigal judge, bitterly reminds a detective that there may be a woman in the case, even when it is hinted she may be a husband or mother for a harsh sentence, since the older Craigin has never been joined with any woman.

Gabriel, the Goldfish, whom Bruce knew in college as The Goldfish, a student of psychology, with a stroke power over men and trick of mind reading, begins work on the Goldfish, who is said to be a young woman named Kate Randall. The Goldfish, however, he is forced to live in the house in order to study the character of the suspected murderer, by observing her books and other details of her home. Bruce urges that the investigation be pushed, even though he has begun to fear it will involve his brother in the case.

Police find the murdered body of Robert Craigin in a revolver. The tenant who is said to be a young woman named Kate Randall. The Goldfish, however, he is forced to live in the house in order to study the character of the suspected murderer, by observing her books and other details of her home. Bruce urges that the investigation be pushed, even though he has begun to fear it will involve his brother in the case.

Miss Simmons, Bruce's faithful secretary, is poisoned in a restaurant by a young man who assists her back to the judge's office.

INSTALLMENT XV.

JANE'S SUBSTITUTE.

Jane was pathetic in her helplessness, like any other vanquished bully, recalled that he must give her back something of her feeling of power over him.

"Listen, Jane. Do you credit me with any sense at all? Please believe I am intelligent enough to recognize competence and devotion when I see it. Heaven knows I've had plenty of proof of it in the past. This place is just as long as you want it! Now go along with Charlie, like a good girl!"

He helped Charlie lead her out of the room. Her last look at him as the gate went down was a plea for his promise that he would not leave her.

Bruce went back to Jane's office and stood for some moments looking over it, death piled with books. Even as he looked Charlie came in with a bunch of afternoon mail, scores of letters.

"Charlie, what's my brother's secret? Why, Leeds, doing these days?" he said. "Do you suppose I can get him to help me?"

"I will go and ask where he is, Judge, and if I find him I'll send him a post."

Charlie had closed the door behind him and Bruce was about to enter his office when he heard a woman's voice.

"Judge Craigin, I'm an office worker. Can't I help you with some of mail at least?"

He was a little confused by her voice, her presence, for some reason seems to him. "You are very kind," he said with a sincerity that rendered the scene more dramatic.

She was back to Jane's office and stood for some moments looking over it, death piled with books. Even as he looked Charlie came in with a bunch of afternoon mail, scores of letters.

"Charlie, what's my brother's secret? Why, Leeds, doing these days?" he said. "Do you suppose I can get him to help me?"

"I will go and ask where he is, Judge, and if I find him I'll send him a post."

Charlie had closed the door behind him and Bruce was about to enter his office when he heard a woman's voice.

"Judge Craigin, I'm an office worker. Can't I help you with some of mail at least?"

He was a little confused by her voice, her presence, for some reason seems to him. "You are very kind," he said with a sincerity that rendered

The conquest of tomorrow through ROSEHILL MAUSOLEUM

"Lest we forget." That living thought erected Rosehill Mausoleum for the conquest of tomorrow—a tomorrow that otherwise means oblivion for many a worthy name. For centuries to come this building will hold fresh within the memories of mankind the achievements of today, through immortalizing the names of those individuals and families who played their parts, be they ever so humble, in shaping today's affairs. This protection is made possible through a perpetual estate charter and two mighty trust funds comprising millions of dollars.

Now, while space permits, you and yours may secure for a small sum the priceless privilege offered in Rosehill Mausoleum. Let us arrange your trip here or send you the illustrated booklet, "Rosehill the Beautiful."

LABOR ATTACKS FREE MAIL RIGHT OF CONGRESSMAN

Wants Special Fund to Pay for Service.

[Chicago Tribune Free Service]

Los Angeles, Cal. Oct. 10.—[Special]—The convention of the American Federation of Labor took a slap at the congressman's franking privilege today federation to a different operating system in the United States post office department.

The postal department is charged with "never having segregated in its annual reports to congress the actual operating costs of the operating service" from the expenses of the operations of a public welfare nature, which are not included in the operating costs and which now exceed $100,000,000 annually and cause a nominal postal deficit."

The resolution demands accurate accounting of the postoffice department's operating expenses. The federation hopes to impose the load of congressmen's free mail upon some other fund so that postal employees could submit salary raise requests without knowing in advance that they would be confronted with a deficit.

An Accurate Accounting.

The resolution stated that "under a system of accurate accounting the postoffice department would be given proper credit for the vast amount of mutual welfare services it renders for nothing and would show an imposing surplus under equitable methods of fiscal accounting."

After C. N. Bolander of Louisville, Ky., spoke in opposition and Gus Soderberg of Chicago, Vice President James Wilson, and Treasurer Dan Tobin of the federation defended the convention accepted a resolution providing for separate organization for the tailors, the cleaners, dyers, and pressers, and the teamsters who drive the tailors' delivery wagons.

Typos Seek Information.

The executive council was asked to report on a resolution introduced by the International Typographical union which asks that congress and the United States secretary of labor submit data on several questions. Among them were:

"Would it be possible to regulate production and consumption within the United States that it would be unnecessary to export competitive products in such quantities as to adversely affect wage levels in other countries?"

"Would it be possible to reduce hours of labor and thereby balance up production and consumption to such an extent that supply would equal demand without creation of a surplus, which ultimately becomes detrimental to both countries and labor?"

President William Green declared that the A. F. of L. was going into politics in Pennsylvania, with labor nominees if necessary, to oust from office those concerned with the tendering of police privileges to coal mine guards, who are described as "thugs and hired gunmen."

Edward J. Evans of Chicago discussed the benefit of labor insurance and Ed Nockels of Chicago steered a resolution recommending a chain of health clubs for the nation. The resolution, presented by the President's assistants' International, would assess each union member $1 a year to operate the radios. Nockels said the Chicago labor owned radio station, WCFI, was about to expand and join the Iowa Farmers' union in construction of a new and expensive station at Elgin, Ill.
